Wedded bliss Gilberts mark 60th wedding anniversary

By RITA DERBIN
ANP Staff Writer

Good communications and a close-knit family have helped Margaret and Hubert (Bert) Gilbert's marriage to survive, and thrive, for more than 60 years.

The Gilberts, Romulus residents for 40 years, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary April 18. To commemorate the special occasion, family members and friends gathered at the Romulus Senior Citizen Towers April 17. In attendance were the couple's four children, Josephine Allen, Leon Gilbert and Bert Gilbert of Romulus and Rose Thompson of Indiana and their spouses (Al, Shirley, Dolores and Romy, respectively), as well as numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren. In all, the Gilberts have 16 grandchildren and 19 (soon to be 21) great-grandchildren. Their children hosted the celebration.

When asked to describe her marriage, Margaret said, "We've had a lot of happiness. A lot of very happy times."

The couple met in Lincoln Park, where she worked for the telephone company, and he for Arlington Garage. They would pass one another on the way to work. Eventually, Bert asked Margaret out and the rest is history. Margaret received her father's blessing, "He felt Bert was a pretty nice guy," and the couple was married at St. Leo's Church in Detroit on April 18, 1928. Margaret was 17 years old and Bert was 19.

Their long-term marriage has not been without adversity. The couple was married in the depression era and according to Gilbert, "Things weren't so hot when we got married."

During World War II, Gilbert served in the Army (heavy artillery) and his bride worked at the Willow Run bomber plant while raising their four children.

The couple lost everything they owned in a house fire and struggled through starting over. Because of the fire, the family was forced to live in local Army housing in Norwayne for a period of time.

Today, the Gilberts are enjoying their retirement years. Gilbert is retired from Climax manufacturing in Belleville and the couple now spends their time participating in activities offered at The Towers.

The couple does have some advice to offer both their family and newlyweds. According to Margaret, "Stick it out. Don't run away from your first argument. It doesn't get you anywhere...and learn to communicate with one another." In Gilbert's words, "Work to make it work."

Millage will be on June ballot

By RITA DERBIN
ANP Staff Writer

The voters may have rejected two property tax proposals last week but members of the Romulus Board of Education are not yet defeated. The board members voted to reinstate the proposals on the June school board elections ballot at the regular meeting Monday evening.

Joel Carr, assistant superintendent of finance and operations for the district, explained at the meeting that the rejection of the two proposals might have occurred because of the wording which appeared on the ballot.

According to Carr, renewals are much easier to get approved by voters than issues that say "increase" and "additional" as did the proposals on the ballot. "When you read the issues, the proposals appear to be an increase in taxes but they aren't. We will reduce the debt levy by the amount we increase the operating levy," Carr said.

Still another reason for voting the proposals down might be the reassessments on property taxes for some taxpayers, according to Carr. Those individuals might have thought that their taxes would be raised further but the schools actually get less state aid when property valuations go up, he noted.

Carr explained that the proposals would have increased the operating millage by 4.5 this year but at the same time reduced the debt millage by 4.5. Starting in 1989, the second part of the proposal would have increased the operating millage by 2 mills and reduced the debt millage by 2 mills during three years. In effect, there would be fund transfer taking place rather than a hike in taxes, he said.

When you read the issues, the proposals appear to be an increase in taxes but they aren't. We will reduce the debt levy by the amount we increase the operating levy.

— Joel Carter
Assistant Superintendent for finance

"The rejection of the proposals does not affect state aid coming into Romulus schools but the increase in millage effort on the part of the taxpayers (if the proposals are approved) will bring a slight increase in state aid," Carr said.

"The defeat says we don't get the increased revenue from taxes that could be used to pay off (the $1.1 million) debt," Carr said. "If we don't get an increase in millage we are under pressure to reduce programs in order to eliminate the increasing accumulated deficit." The school district has to either raise revenue or cut expenses or the deficit will increase to $1.3 million next year, according to Carr.

The only avenue that can be taken by the school district at this point is to raise revenue by the fund transfer because the budget cannot be reduced without making major cuts, he said.

As it is, the deficit keeps growing because expenses continue to increase and the revenue coming into the district does not. The school district is having a hard enough time trying to keep employee salaries competitive by gradual increases without having to make further cuts, Carr said.

Police report robbery reduction

By RITA DERBIN
ANP Staff Writer

Armed robberies in the city of Romulus during the first quarter of 1988 have decreased compared to the first quarter of 1987 according to police statistics.

According to police reports, nine armed robberies occurred from January through March of this year involving five businesses, one individual and three residences. Three arrests have been made to date.

There were 19 armed robberies in the first quarter of 1987 involving 12 businesses and seven individuals. Four arrests were made last year.

Crime Prevention Officer John Smagner has been actively involved in making the community aware of precautionary measures that can be taken to discourage robbery.

Smagner has worked with individuals, groups and businesses around the community to teach them preventive measures and also what to do during and after a robbery.

Preventive measures, according to Smagner, can be as simple as having good lighting inside and outside an establishment. Security cameras are an excellent preventative measure and the advertisement of security measures and cash-handling policies are also effective, according to Smagner. Employers are also encouraged to have more than one person working the late shift if possible.

Because most crimes occur at night it is also wise to have a system designed to separate employees from patrons at night. In hotels, lobbies should be closed after a certain hour and transactions should be made through security windows. In 24-hour gas stations a similar system should be instituted, Smagner said.

Employees should also be encouraged to call the police at the first sign of suspicious people, Smagner said.

One of the best methods of preventing crime is for businesses to make employees aware of what to do in case of a robbery.

"The number one thing to remember," according to Smagner, "is to do exactly what the robber says. Nothing more and nothing less."

"If the robber wants the money from the cash register, do it. Do not, however, reach for money in a safe because the unexpected movement could cause the robber to panic and think you are reaching for the alarm or a gun," Smagner added.

During a robbery a victim should try to take in as many details about the robber as possible. A complete description of the robber, from the hair down to the shoes, is extremely helpful, Smagner stressed.

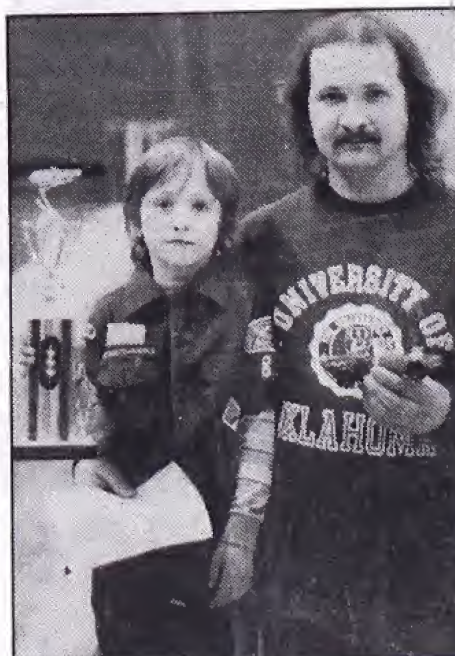

After the thief leaves, a robbery victim should phone the police immediately, even if they have an alarm. "Sometimes the alarm doesn't go off and the police can help quicker if they are called directly." There is a delay from the alarm reaching the alarm company and the alarm company notifying the police. "Time is of the essence," Smagner said.

Romulus has experienced some difficulties due to the lack of a 911 number, Smagner noted, but said that an emergency number would be operable by the end of the year.

Presently, 911 calls go to the Wayne police who contact Romulus. The most effective action is to call the police emergency number (941-1111), Smagner said.

Because time is of the essence in a robbery the victim should also try to get the

Trucker is convicted of cruelty to animals

A tow truck driver who threw a dog into Belleville Lake last November has been convicted of cruelty to animals and sentenced to 10 days on a work detail. According to Belleville Police Chief Willard Dockter, the case was brought to trial at the 34th District Court in Romulus following a lengthy investigation by the Humane Society. The man, sentenced April 19, is William Block, of Westland. He was also fined $305 plus $200 in court costs, according to the Belleville police chief.

Witnesses reported seeing Block throw the dog over a 6-foot-high fence on the Denton Road Bridge into the lake. Two men who were at the scene rescued the dog from the water and brought it to the Belleville Police Station where they filed a report of the incident. The witnesses were able to identify the tow truck which Block had been driving and police traced him to the Canton-based firm where he worked. The owner of the company confirmed that the same dog had been seen on the premises prior to the incident and that the tow truck driver had taken the dog with him to Belleville to make a pickup. Chief Dockter said the dog has been placed in a new home.

State official helps create police academy

State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has joined officials in western Wayne County and the Downriver communities in their effort to establish a regional police officers training facility at Schoolcraft College/Radcliff, in Garden City. "A group of Wayne County legislators met recently to discuss how we could best pursue the establishment of such a facility. Plans are under way for additional meetings to work toward making this goal a reality," Faust said. Faust said that the western Wayne County and Downriver area is one of the most populous in the state, and a lack of a police officers training academy prohibits input and advice into training by programs by local police chiefs. Schoolcraft College/Radcliff officials, Faust said, are also preparing a proposal for the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council, requesting approval for a pre-service academy located at the Garden City campus. The campus is located on Radcliff, south of Ford Road, in Garden City.

Western, Downriver groups to stage joint meeting

Representatives of the 17-member Conference of Western Wayne and the Downriver Community Conference will join forces June 2 to discuss major topics of mutual concern. According to CWW Executive Director Ann Bollin, three or four topics will be selected for the agency of the annual meeting of the groups.

School plans Spring fair

Faces can be painted, raffle tickets purchased and several types of activities enjoyed at the Halecreek Elementary School Spring Fair scheduled for 5 to 7 p.m. May 6.

Mildred Holmes is organizing the event which is sponsored by the Halecreek Parent Teachers Guild. The school is located at 16200 Harrison Road in Romulus.

Plans include a display of balloon animals creation, fingernail painting and a cake walk. Foods including pizza, hot dogs, popcorn and soft drinks will be available for purchase.

There is no charge for admission and tickets for the activities can be purchased five for $1 at Halecreek Elementary School before the fair or for 25 cents each at the door. More information about the event is available at 942-0140.

Industrial park gets new tenant

Romulus Oakwood Industrial Park tenants will soon welcome a new neighbor.

April 13 groundbreaking ceremonies for Aztec Manufacturing Corp. were attended by Mayor Beverly McAnally, Aztec owner Frank Lopez and Joe Kochanoski, a partner in the 275 Investment Company and development coordinator for the project.

Aztec Manufacturing Corporation is a minority supplier to the automotive industry, and its main customer is Ford Motor Co.

The 275 Investment Company will be developing the industrial park, and Rea Construction of Taylor will be the building contractor.

Construction on the building will begin immediately and partial occupancy is expected in July.

According to Kochanoski, Aztec will provide employment opportunities to Romulus residents. Lopez has stated that his company intends to hire additional people once the building is fully operational.

Man stabbed in money dispute

An Ypsilanti man was stabbed and two other people were injured at about 10 p.m. April 17 during an incident at a residence on the 7200 block of Merriam Road in Romulus.

A 44-year-old Ypsilanti man was stabbed in the chest and is being treated for a chest wound at Westland Medical Center, according to police reports.

A 41-year-old Westland resident suffered cuts and bruises to the head after being hit with a shovel. He is being treated at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

A third victim is a 22-year-old male from Belleville. He suffered a slight laceration to the right hand.

Police say there are possibly three other witnesses who were at the scene but have not yet spoken to the police.

No charges have been filed yet and the police are still investigating the incident. The incident could have stemmed from an argument over money, police said.

Used book sale planned

Friends of the Romulus Library will be sponsoring a used book sale May 2, 3, and 4 at the public library.

The event will take place during library hours Monday and from noon until 8 p.m. Tuesday. Wednesday the sale will continue from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Saturday, May 7, the sponsors have scheduled a grocery bag special when book buyers will be able to fill a grocery bag full of books for a dollar.

All proceeds benefit the library, located at 11M1 S. Wayne Road. For more information call Gloria Chandler at 941-2678.

Huron High School names top 10

By RITA DERBIN
ANP Staff Writer

Pamela Stewart and Wendi G. Johnson, both of Romulus, are among the best academic students in their senior class at Huron High School. Both girls are in the top 10 of the class based on their grade point averages.

Pamela Sue Ridder of Flat Rock is the valedictorian for the class of 1988 at Huron High School. Ridder is the daughter of Susan M. and Frank H. Ridder and has been a four-year member of the band and pep band. She is also a member of the auditorium technical crew and the National Honor Society (NHS). Ridder is a candidate for a University of Michigan Regents-Alumni Scholarship and plans on attending the school this fall to study political science.

The class salutatorian is John

Kaciewicz. Kaciewicz is the son of Caroline and Arthur Kaciewicz of Flat Rock. He is an active participant in the auditorium technical crew, NHS, science club, band and pep band. Kaciewicz has been nominated for a University of Michigan Regents-Alumni Scholarship and plans on enrolling in the College of Engineering at the university this fall.

Third-ranked Pamela Stewart is the daughter of Judy and Larry Stewart of Prescott Road in Romulus. Stewart has been active in school as a drum major for two years. She has also been involved with the band, pep band, auditorium technical crew, and NHS. Stewart plans to attend University of Michigan-Dearborn this fall and pursue a career in engineering.

Also among the top 10 is John Spiecker of New Boston. John is the son of Barbara and Bill Spiecker and is most proud of his athletic accomplishments during high school. He has been named an All-Huron League Scholar in both cross country and basketball in addition to being active in the NHS, varsity club and church activities. Spiecker has been accepted at Western Michigan University to study aeronautical engineering but is awaiting word on an appointment to the Air Force Academy.

Senior class secretary Pamela Hughes is also one of the top Huron graduates. Hughes is the daughter of Nancy and Thomas Hughes of New Boston. She is a member of the NHS and Huron Acting Company II. In her high school years, Hughes has also been a cheerleader and participant in track and basketball. She plans on attending Michigan State this fall and study secondary education.

Debra M. Aquino, daughter of Harriet and Louie Aquino of New Boston is also a top student. Debra is active in the student government and NHS. She will be attending University of Michigan-Dearborn this fall.

Larry L. Swick II is the son of Lorali and Larry L. Swick of New Boston. He has been active in track, cross-country and basketball throughout high school and has been involved with NHS, student government, Students Against Drunk Driving, varsity club, Acting Company II, and youth groups at his church. Swick plans to pursue a career in teaching.

Another Romulus youth in the top 10 is Wendi G. Johnson. Johnson is the daughter of Gail and Bill Johnson of King Road in Romulus. She is active in student government, NHS, auditorium, auditorium technical crew, and youth activities at her church. Johnson plans to make use of her Recognition of Excellence Scholarship from Eastern Michigan this fall where she will study for a career as an elementary school teacher.

Michelle Umin, daughter of Laura and Gerald Umin of Belleville has also received recognition as one of the top students in her class. Umin is a member of Quill and Scroll as well as NHS and the school yearbook. She has also participated in many different sports activities at school. Umin will attend Eastern Michigan and major in computer programming.

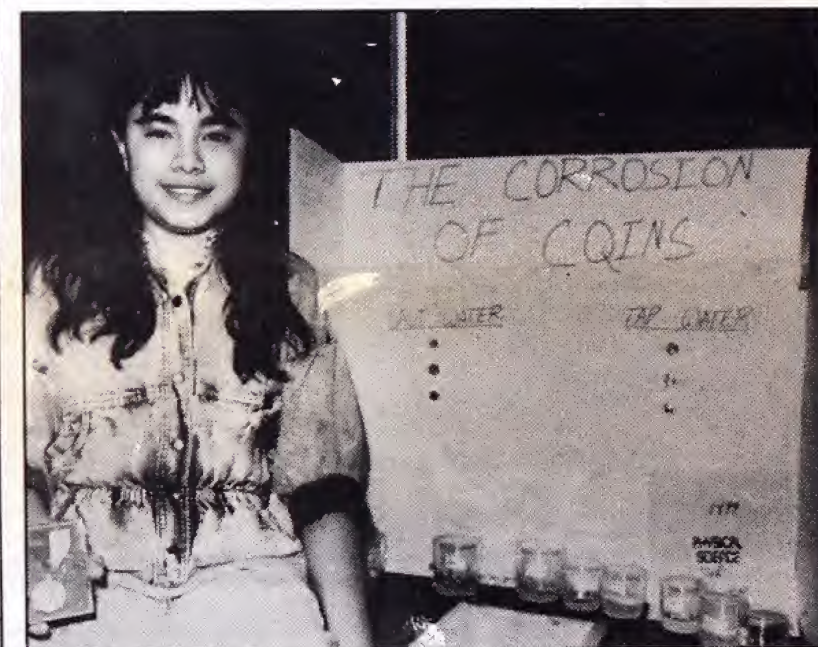

Senior class treasurer Christy Cady rounds out the top 10 students at Huron High School. She is the daughter of Betty and Dave Cady of New Boston. Christy is active in the varsity club, student government, track, and NHS and plans to attend Michigan State University this fall to study health administration.

Students get special lesson in self awareness

By RITA DERBIN
ANP Staff Writer

Students at Romulus High School took a time out from classes last Thursday to confront problems facing teens in society today.

The Self-Awareness Day activities gave students the opportunity to learn more about themselves by attending sessions which dealt with the frustrations of being a teenager.

Each student selected three areas of interest and went to classes taught by professionals from throughout the Detroit area. Topics of discussion included suicide, running away, family problems, teenage sexuality and pregnancy discussions, drug abuse, dating, rape, racism and teen eating disorders.

After attending three sessions, students filled out evaluation sheets about the sessions they attended and were asked for suggestions on improving Self-Awareness Day.

About half the students at the high school also attended a self-motivation seminar conducted by LLOYD Preston, a life science and health teacher at Franklin Junior High School in the Wayne Westland School District.

Preston immediately got the attention of the crowd by beginning his seminar shouting, "I feel good! I feel great!" He then had the students stand up and repeat the statement.

Preston talked about the goals of individuals. "Life is not a game of chance or luck. Life is a game of choice. You will spend your life by those choices that you make. There are no time outs, no substitutions and the clock is always running."

Preston told the students, "Your life is going to be made up of the choices you make and the choices you are making right now are going to determine what you will be doing with (the rest of your life)."

According to Preston, there are four kinds of people, the spectators, the losers, the winners, and the double-winners. The spectators are the people who watch life being played by others and do not want to participate.

The losers are the people who choose never to get involved and never attempt a challenge.

The winners are the people who would, in Preston's words, "step on an old lady's hands to get to the top of the ladder," and want to win at any cost.

The double winner is what people should strive to be. The double winner is a person who helps someone become a winner and by doing that, becomes a winner himself.

Youths who do not have someone to be their double-winner become desperate. Out of that desperation comes several problems teens have to deal with, most notably suicide, Preston said.

Preston told the filled auditorium that suicide is "a permanent solution to a temporary problem." He added that "you can never go back."

Preston concluded his talk by telling the students in attendance that they were "unrepeatable miracles." He then challenged each and everyone to go out and use their specialness to "be a friend of others. Be a double-winner."

license and make of the thief's car and the direction in which it was going.

Many business owners send their employees to Smagner's crime prevention classes to learn what to do in case of a robbery. The employees are taught to distinguish between different types of guns and other weapons. And robbery victims are told to write down every detail about the robbery and the robber as soon as possible after the crime takes place, Smagner said.

The most frequent robbery sites have traditionally been gas stations, according to Smagner. Lately, however, hotels are also being victimized. Smagner said this was "almost unheard of in the past."

Some of the reasons Smagner suggested for this change is that the hotels are around the airport. "The airport is vulnerable because of the heavy transient population going through the area and the freeway accessibility," Smagner said.

Promoting Romulus

Officials from the Economic Development Corp. of Romulus traveled to the Downriver Business Exposition, staged in Wyandotte last weekend. Purpose of the visit was to promote the city of Romulus and the promise of vacant lands near an expanding airport and an economically developing business community. EDC officials recently produced a promotional brochure for the city, which lists the transportation, commerce and demographic highlights of the city. City and EDC officials hope the stepped-up promotional campaign will help entice industry and business officials from the Downriver area to relocate or build new facilities in Romulus. Among those at the expo were Romulus Treasurer James Napiorowski (left, top photo), who gave his sales pitch to Anthony Arenniak. Also attending the event were Tony Gamez (from left, bottom photo), Ken McPhaul and Jeff Synowiec, 9, of Romulus, who were at the Romulus-based Central Distributors display. Area residents to perform in patriotic musical series

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Participants from Westland, Canton, Wayne, Belleville and the Lincoln area will present several patriotic musical programs during the annual Michigan/Ohio Concert Choir series.

Local choir members include Marla Forman of Belleville; Marlene Collins, Nancy Schade, Judy Spada, Tom McKendrick and Richard Teague, Westland; Patricia Bell, Earl Bell and Judy Klein, Wayne; Barbara Peters, Inkster; Kathy Fernitz, Garden City; Sherry Ann Eby, Carlton; Lelanel Malick and Edland

Malick of Lincoln-Willis, and Nel McMann of New Boston.

Liberty II, will be presented at 4 and 8 p.m. May 7 at the Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn and 8 p.m. May 13 at the Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor. The choir also will appear in Flint on May 14 and Toledo, Ohio, on May 15.

The 200-voice choir, directed by Thurlow Spurr, will also appear with a children's choir - the Kid's Choir - a teen choir and a multi-media presentation with laser effects, fireworks and filmed imagery. A troupe of choreographed dancers also will be featured in the shows.

Inspired by the State of Liberty in New York harbor, the program is a musical tribute to the national symbol of freedom. The show has a salute to each of the armed forces and sequences such as a portion of President John F. Kennedy's inauguration.

The patriotic program, Liberty, which was presented by a combined choir from various states, was made into an hour-long television special show on the CBN network. The choirs also have presented concerts at several national conventions.

Tickets are on sale for afternoon performances at $7 and evening shows at $9. Advance tickets for the local shows are available by calling the ticket chairman at 255-4712. Information also is available at area Christian supply stores.

Zoning changes made for lodges

Firefighters from Belleville and Van Buren Township are continuing to work together, but now their mutual aid is being formalized by an agreement between the two communities.

Terms of the agreement are:

- In case of a fire or other emergency, a participating fire department may request any other participating fire department to furnish aid.

Such request shall be made by the fire chief or his authorized subordinate;

- Furnishing of aid shall be wholly within the discretion of the fire chief of the responding department and no liability shall arise from a failure or refusal to furnish aid;

- If the responding department furnishes aid and for any reason withdraws any or all of its personnel and equipment, no liability shall arise;

- A requesting department is not required to reimburse a responding department for aid furnished;

- The chief or commanding officer of the responding department shall exercise sole control and direction over its personnel and equipment in carrying out the fire chief or commanding officer of the requesting fire department;

- Each department shall maintain sufficient Workers Compensation and public liability insurance, and
- Each department shall assume liability as between the departments hereto for injuries to its own men and damages of its own equipment incurred enroute to or from while at a fire or other emergency.

Dates set for event

Dates for the annual Belleville Area Strawberry Festival have been slated for June 17 to 19.

The event, which is conducted throughout the community, begins with the selection of a queen on June 17.

Bill would ban school pagers

Legislation has been introduced in the state Senate that would prohibit students from carrying "pocket pagers" in school by state Sen. William Faust (D-Westland). The pocket pagers have reportedly been used by some high school drug dealers to stay in touch with their clients.

The bill would allow school boards to ban pocket pagers and develop penalties appropriate for students who violate the ban.

"We cannot sit idly by and watch a student use a pager to make a drug deal," Faust said.

Dogs in hunts would be banned

Legislation designed to ban the use of dogs when bear hunting in Michigan has been introduced by state Sen. William Faust (D-Westland).

"I can't think of a more unsportsmanlike activity than to use packs of dogs to chase a bear until it's exhausted and treed, so that a so-called hunter can shoot it," Faust said. "I see no hunting skill, ability or talent required by the individual, and certainly there isn't a sporting chance for the bear."

The bill has been referred to the state Senate Committee on Natural Resources and Environmental Affairs.

Grant to aid Rouge River

A $434,000 grant to investigate contamination in the Rouge River has been approved by the state Legislature, according to state Sen. George Hart (D-Dearborn).

The surface water quality division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will coordinate the investigation, which is scheduled to begin in May and continue for up to two years, Hart said.

"Cleaning up our environment, especially the areas that present a serious threat to the public's health, safety and welfare, should be our top priority," Hart said. "The Rouge River is one of the most polluted rivers in the state and deserves immediate attention. If we start to address this pollution problem today, this natural resource may be enjoyed in the future, and our environment will be much safer to live in."

The DNR investigation will include the evaluation of contaminants within the river, identification of the source of the contaminants and list of feasible remedies for the affected river system, according to Gary Klepper, of the state DNR.

Law to protect the handicapped

A measure recently signed into law makes it a misdemeanor for a motorist to fail to yield to a disabled person at a crosswalk, according to state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township).

Bill focuses on pupil discipline

State House lawmakers are considering a bill that would ban corporal punishment in the state public schools, according to state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township). The measure would allow teachers and administrators to use "reasonable physical restraint" to protect themselves, the pupil and others from injury and to protect school property.

In the bill, school boards would be required to develop and di

'Mystery selling' of county land studied

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

The issue of county-owned land being placed on the auction block because of delinquent taxes is still under study, according to Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

It recently came to the attention of county commissioners that county-owned land was being put on the tax rolls of various communities. After three years of unpaid taxes, the communities are putting the properties up for sale as part of the annual delinquent tax sale.

George Cross, a staff attorney for the commissioners, said such action is not in violation of any law.

"Michigan law permits communities to put this land on the tax rolls," Cross said.

The commissioners expressed concern that county land would be gradually whittled away and charged Executive Officer Edward McNamara with taking inventory of the properties and determining which are in danger of being sold.

In a message to members of the committee on ways and means, McNamara said he is taking steps to prevent county-owned property from being improperly taxed and, in cases of legitimate taxation, is either promptly paying the taxes or re-evaluating the status of the property.

Cross said McNamara passed on a letter stating that he was entering into negotiations with various communities but was not sure where things stood to date.

Telephone calls to the executive's office were not returned.

Cross said most of the problem is the product of past administrations rather than McNamara's. A property owner has three years to pay the taxes, before the property is put in the delinquent tax sale, staged each May.

Dr. Radsan is a member of the Oakwood Hospital Medical Staff, and maintains a private practice in obstetrics/gynecology in Allen Park.

LASER AND WOMEN'S HEALTH

By Kianoosh Radsan, M.D.

There is a new LASER technique available to treat various female diseases and to repair reproductive organs without open abdominal surgery. It's called LASER laparoscopy.

LASERS already have an extensive application in research, military and industry. They have been and are continuing to be used more and more in several fields of medicine as well.

LASERS have been used in the treatment of infertility and endometriosis for some time, but the procedures required opening the abdominal cavity.

The development of a laser laparoscopy — a long, thin tube with LASER, lights and lenses — eliminates the need for a large incision on the abdominal wall, the invasion of the abdominal cavity, and the possible complications associated with it.

As a result, the treatment is less dangerous, less painful, less expensive, and, as in an outpatient procedure, does not usually require a lengthy hospital stay. Moreover, the patient is generally able to resume normal activity within one to two days, and return to her job after only a brief interruption.

In the often called "keyhole" surgery, the laparoscope enters the abdomen through a half-inch incision below the navel allowing the gynecologist to visualize the internal organs.

The gynecologist can examine the ovaries, the tubes, and the outside of the uterus for adhesions, endometriosis, or scarring. Then, he or she can treat diseased tissues and tubal obstructions by LASER.

When the laser and the laparoscope are used together, they make a powerful surgical tool. A gynecologist can reach areas that would be difficult to reach with standard tools such as surgical knives and scissors. Using LASER through a laparoscope, the physician can not only reach but also treat diseased areas without damaging the healthy surrounding tissue.

LASER laparoscopy, as a rule, requires less time than conventional surgery. Therefore, it is safer because less anesthesia time is needed.

Another added benefit of laser surgery is that it is done with the help of a video camera. Therefore, the entire operation can be recorded on videotape. The videotape is the perfect documentation of the surgery, and is helpful in explaining the procedure to the patient or in reviewing the procedure if further surgery is required.

Enhanced 911: Telephone network to be ready in 1989

In less than one year, an enhanced emergency telephone service will be available to communities in western Wayne County.

Plans to implement the Enhanced 911 service are "coming down the home stretch," according to Ann Bollin, executive director of the Conference of Western Wayne.

"Most of the preliminary work has been completed," Bollin said, "and we are now at the point of developing specifications for the necessary equipment and requesting bids."

She said that, although most of the preliminary work has been completed, the last steps—selecting and installing equipment—are extremely important factors.

Joseph Benyo, who is coordinating the CWW-sponsored program, said the service should be implemented by the projected target date of March, 1989.

Because some of the member communities border Detroit or Oakland County, they may "come on line earlier because of their tie-in to the other systems," Bollin said, noting that Detroit and Oakland County launched their Enhanced 911 program prior to the start of the CWW effort.

Representatives from the 17-community CWW attended an April 20-21 vendor show at the Airport Hilton to evaluate the emergency telephone equipment required to implement the Enhanced 911 service. Following presentations by the various vendors, specifications will be developed by the CWW and the consortium will advertise a request for bids.

Equipment was displayed by ALI (AT&T) Emergency Systems, U.S. West Enterprises, Michigan Bell Communications, MAI Basic 4 and Data Technologies, Inc.

Benyo noted that because of the specialized technology required for the emergency system, the number of vendors providing the equipment was limited. However, he said, the vendor show participants were able to provide a variety of options available for the primary and secondary public safety answering positions.

Three options for the public safety answering position service were displayed. The first, selective routing, had voice only without the automatic location identification. This option requires only a standard telephone with adequate additional line capacity. The second option for the CWW communities is selective routing and automatic number identification, which would require an ANI controller display and transfer unit.

The third option includes selective routing, automatic number identification and automatic location identification with transfer feature.

Equipment for the third option would include an ANI master controller, display and transfer unit plus an ALI master controller display and transfer unit.

The last two options also require a commercial power unit which provides for reserve battery power and converts AC to DC.

The Enhanced 911 concept was developed in 1974 following a request by the Chicago police and fire departments. Two years later, engineers hand-crafted a system that passed callers' telephone numbers to a 911 computer screen in the police department. Later, automatic address identification was added, and then a system for selective routing of calls was incorporated into the system. The full benefits of the Enhanced 911 system were first incorporated into the emergency system in Orange County, Florida, in 1980.

Townships want spot on map

State Rep. Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) has introduced a resolution calling for equal representation for cities and townships on state maps and highway exit signs.

Law wants the law to require that townships with populations of 14,000 or more be recognized on the maps and signs.

"According to the Michigan Department of Transportation administrative rules, townships traditionally have not been indicated on the face of state maps or by expressway exit signs," said Law.

Currently, only incorporated villages and cities are designated on the maps.

State transportation department officials say the current procedure keeps the map from becoming too cluttered. But, Law believes, people who live and work in large townships take issue with the practice.

"Thriving communities, centers of growth and development, are being unjustly overlooked," said Law. "Tourists and business people coming into Michigan can't locate some of the state's most viable areas using our maps, and they aren't assisted by our road signs."

"There is usually only a small sign along the expressway, located at the township line, that indicates the name of the community. It's as though these localities don't exist," Law said.

The resolution has been referred to the Committee on House Oversight.

We'd rather be safe... than sorry...

Youth Corps: County agency has summer jobs for 1,000

Opportunities for summer employment for youths appear to be good this year, according to Ann Bollin, executive director of the Conference of Western Wayne.

She reported that the Private Industry Corp. has "more than 1,000 slots" for summer jobs in two programs - Michigan Youth Corps and Michigan Summer Youth Training.

The CWW serves as a liaison between PIC, which coordinates the local job programs, and the local municipalities. Applications for employment are available through the offices of area mayors and township supervisors.

Bollin said the programs not only provide job training and employment to youths, but also provide workers for community service projects. For example, Bollin said, CWW communities have more than 100 work sites registered for the summer work crews.

"Westland is seeking youths to work for the historical commission. Inkster needs youths to work in their recreation center. Dearborn Heights wants workers to paint fire hydrants and Livonia needs youths to help with their property assessments," Bollin said. "There are a variety of jobs throughout the area, and the youths may or may not work in their own city or township."

The summer employment begins after the close of schools - usually the third week of June and continues through the last week of August.

The Michigan Youth Corps, which has employed more than 95,000 young people since it was instituted in 1983, is open to applicants between the ages of 18 and 21. The youth must be unemployed and a resident of Michigan. Applicants from household headed by an unemployed person are given first priority and those closest to 21 years of age are given second priority.

MYC workers earn $3.35 an hour. However, in some instances local community employers may increase the wage, according to the CWW spokesperson.

Youths receive employability skills training, including job search skills, attending job fair and other related activities. Participants who have dropped out of high school receive education assessments plus counseling and referral and/or placement in appropriate services. Prior to the end of the summer employment, all participants are counseled about appropriate education and training programs and employment opportunities.

The Summer Youth Training and Employment Program for young people between the ages of 14 and 21 offers remedial counseling, training and job readiness skills. The program is aimed at economically disadvantaged and handicapped youths.

Youth Corps to clear drains

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Overgrown drainage ditches - some which resemble a forest more than a system for the drainage of storm water - are being cleaned by crews from the Alternative Community Work Force Program.

The project has had two positive results, according to Wayne County officials. First, drains have been cleared to allow the run off of water from long-neglected drains into sewer systems. Second, the program has allowed non-violent misdemeanor offenders to provide a needed community service as an alternative to jail.

The project, in which some 20 to 25 local courts are participating, brings workers to two county sites where they are dispatched to their work areas. The convicted misdemeanants participate in the work program for a stated period of time to serve out their sentences, thereby saving jail costs for the community in which they were charged and providing a cost-effective method of providing community services, according to a spokesperson for Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, who helped to institute the program.

Since the beginning of March, crews have been chopping down trees, hauling out debris and raking muck from the bottom of the Grams Drain, according to Wayne County officials. When work on the Grams Drain is completed, the crews will move to the Patterson Drain and then continue the program by working on the county drains which are in the worst condition.

"The condition of these drains is unbelievable," said McNamara. "Some of them haven't been cleaned in 10 years."

McNamara said the drains have been used as dumps with "some areas so bad the drain is completely blocked off."

The open flow through the drains is necessary to allow for the drainage of water from storms and spring thaws. If debris is caught in culverts or the drain is stopped up in a particular area, clogging is caused upstream which in turn causes the flooding of fields, streets, yards and basements.

County officials noted that during the period when the drain commission was in operation, local communities were charged approximately $50,000 to clean each mile of drain. The average cost to clean up rural drain has been estimated by the state to average $30,000. Since Wayne County has targeted the drains as a priority worksite for the Alternative Community Work Force Program, the drain division has reimbursed the program $800 per mile, according to county officials.

School chiefs plan strategy

School board members from about 11 in-formula school districts in western Wayne County are forming a new committee.

The committee will be called "Boards unified for funding in schools" with Rick Champnella, president of the Southgate School Board, as chairman.

The in-formula boards have come together to try to lobby for more funding and legislation to help in-formula districts. In-formula districts are those districts that receive state aid. Out-of-formula districts are districts which don't receive state aid and are supported solely by tax millage levies.

The new group has also adopted a mission statement.

"The purpose of the organization entitled 'Boards unified for funding in schools' shall be to coordinate efforts among school boards of the state of Michigan for the purpose of influencing state policy to assure adequacy, stability and equity for funding for every pupil enrolled in public schools in this state."

The next meeting of the new board is tonight at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Taylor near Interstate 75.

School board members and superintendents from about 12 boards met earlier this month to discuss forming the group. In-formula district leaders say districts do not receive equitable funding and that each student is entitled to the same opportunities in education.

Shop for your birthing center the way you shop for your nursery.

Getting ready for a new baby is a big job. You could spend hours comparing each stroller, looking for just the right crib, or picking out the best carseat. When it comes to the type of birthing experience you want for your baby, you have just as many choices. And you should be just as careful when deciding on a birthing option and a hospital.

That's why Annapolis Hospital invites you to do some "comparative shopping" at our newly renovated Birthing Center. We offer you a natural childbirth in the warm, home-like setting of our new birthing rooms, as well as the traditional delivery room option. Both offer you complete comfort and care.

And small touches, like a gourmet dinner for new parents and liberal visiting hours for siblings and grandparents, will help you celebrate the occasion. Annapolis also offers you a range of prenatal educational programs, from an early pregnancy class, to natural childbirth preparation classes.

Take a stroll through our Birthing Center today. The choices we give you are beyond compare.

Bus service faces federal budget cuts

A possible reduction in federal funding for public mass transit systems has officials from the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority and Nankin Transit Authority worried about local services.

"They (the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments) are trying to put the halt on (budget) cuts, and I think they will be successful," said Charles Hunter, chairman of the NTC, which is a commuter bus service for the cities of Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Inkster and Canton Township.

Meanwhile, officials from the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments urged local officials to oppose the federal cuts. SEMCOG officials met Friday in Ann Arbor.

Hunter said the cuts would result in a loss of 53 percent of the SEMTA operating budget and would also mean cuts to the NTC.

"We would only lose a small amount of money - but a necessary part of our budget," said Hunter. "We have to sit tight and wait. If they do approve the cuts, it would be a hardship on those who depend on mass transit."

Trains: Police crack down on 'gate evaders'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Why would anyone attempt to challenge a moving engine that weighs 273,000 pounds?

Some motorists apparently do, and because of their foolishness, they forfeit their lives.

State police statistics reveal that, in 1986, there were 287 train-car accidents, resulting in 22 deaths and 159 other injuries. In 1987, there were 302 such accidents, and 35 persons lost their lives, while 176 were injured.

No statistics were available for 1988.

"In most of these cases, people are just not paying attention or are in a hurry," said Capt. Kenneth Casperson, of the Michigan State Police, in Lansing. "It is this hurry-up attitude of our society that is the cause of many of these accidents."

In order to cut down on train-car accidents, Michigan State Police officials last week initiated a pilot program called "Trooper on the Train."

A state trooper will be assigned to accompany trains and engineers leaving the depot in Allen Park. All police departments on the train route will be notified that a trooper is aboard via the Law Enforcement Information Network and will take their respective stations.

If a motorist chooses to violate the law when the crossing gates have been triggered and are down, the information will be relayed to the waiting scout cars and officers, who will ticket the violators, according to the police.

"Drivers who choose to ignore crossing gates and other signals warning them of an approaching train will now face more than the threat of injury," said Casperson. "We'll be working together with local police to ticket motorists who drive in front of oncoming trains. Our troopers will ride the trains, armed with radios and will alert the police."

Participating in the program locally will be the police departments of Belleville, Van Buren Township and Romulus.

Belleville Police Chief Willard Dockter and Van Buren Township Police Chief Joseph Davies applauded the program and said the respective departments "would offer the State Police all the cooperation they can."

"This (program) should help call attention to the fact that motorists are not only placing their life and the lives of their passengers in jeopardy," Dockter said, "but it will also send a message that crossing gates and other warning signals are to be obeyed."

According to a Michigan State Police fact sheet, motorists involved in a car-train accident are more likely to die than when they are involved in a two-car, motor-vehicle accident.

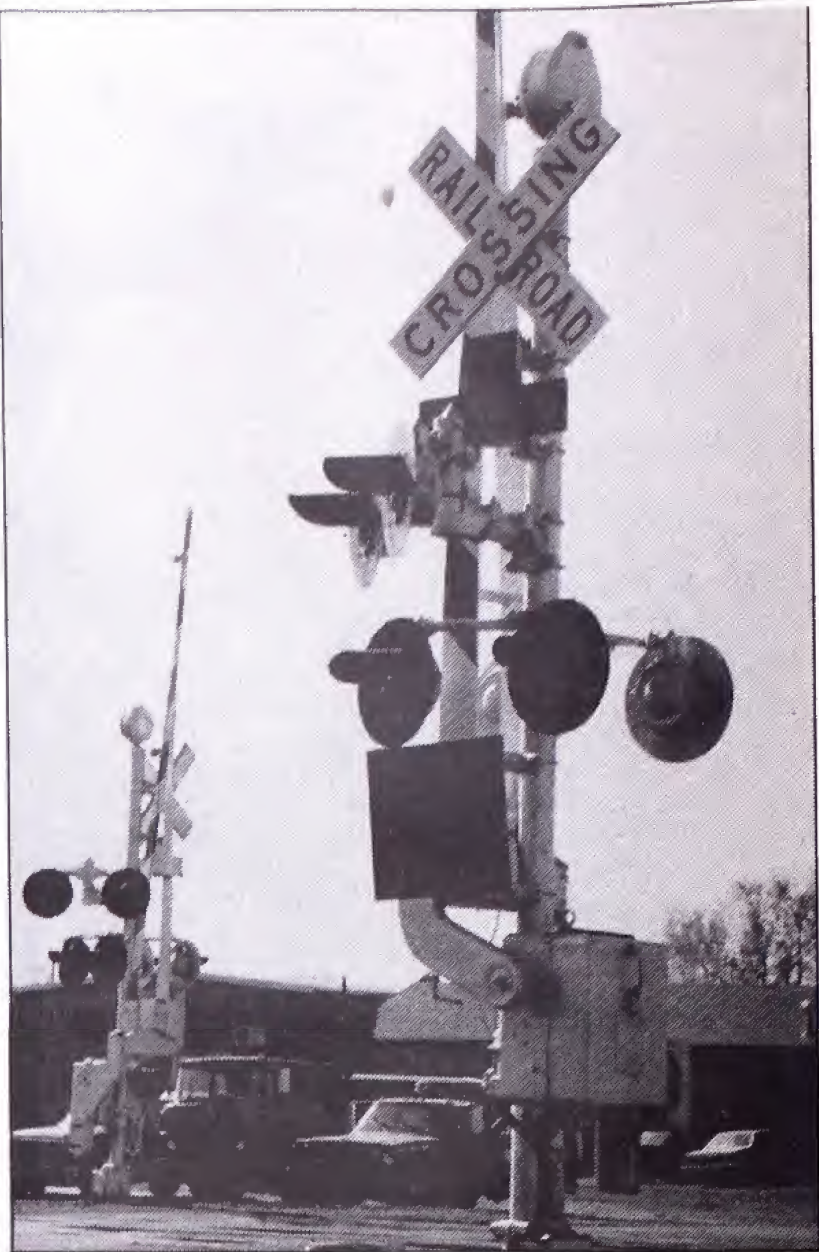

Also, in terms of injury, the severity of the car-train accidents are second only to plane crashes.

Joseph Alan Gross, of the Michigan Railroads Association, explained that when the gates are down because of a malfunction or vandalism, "motorists should stop and wait."

"It's not a violation if you come to a complete stop (at the crossing gate) and wait a reasonable time before you proceed," Gross said. "Under those circumstances, no violations will be issued."

"And if a citizen does observe that the gates are down, it would be helpful to us if he telephoned the local police department, who will relay the message on to us."

"But," Gross added, "challenging a locomotive that weighs approximately 273,000 pounds just doesn't make sense."

State and local police officials will be cracking down on motorists who evade the railroad warning gates and signals and drive through the barrier. The program has been dubbed "Trooper on the Train." ANP photo by Joan Mary Dyer

Bicentennial trees

New laws to curb crime

Michigan lawmakers have all but completed work on the most comprehensive reform of the Michigan criminal and juvenile justice system in recent history. The 69-bill bipartisan package targets drug-related crime, juvenile offenders and professional criminals.

Many of the bills in the package have already been signed into law. Several of these important measures are designed to protect our finances and help keep us safe in our homes and on the streets.

The new laws include:

- Establish penalties including jail time for persons who steal and illegally use electronic fund transfer cards at bank "money machines";
- Make jail escape a felony and allow consecutive sentencing for criminals who commit new felonies while out on bond or on parole;
- Extend the rights of restitution and notification to victims of misdemeanor crimes;
- Broaden child pornography laws to include pictures or films intended for private, non-commercial use and protect commercial photographers who report suspected child-abusive materials.
- Require the courts to consider the threat a charged offender poses to the public when setting bail;
- Permit prosecution of certain sexual abuse crimes up to six years after the assault was committed or up to the victim's 21st birthday; and
- Create a new crime classification of "retail theft," which would make it easier to arrest shoplifters and allow store owners to sue them to recover damages and costs.

Other bills in the bipartisan anti-crime package address illegal drug transactions and abuse and make major changes in the way serious juvenile criminals are treated by the courts.

Dogs are mirror-image of owner

It's upsetting when someone phones us to inquire about training classes for his dog and is already upset because they've been told his particular breed cannot be trained. Whoever he talked to, previous to phoning us, told him his dog was too stubborn, too lazy, too hyper or energetic, too mean, too submissive, etc. In other words, the entire breed was judged and sentenced without being seen. The entire breed was criticized, not just that particular dog.

No one breed should be condemned (or honored) any more than one race or religion of people should. To be honest, most breeds have individual peculiarities, good and/or bad. This means we should be aware of what we are buying and accept those traits the breed possesses. It doesn't make the breed bad, it makes it unique.

For example, one stereotype is that Doberman Pinschers have a reputation for "turning on their masters" after they reach a certain age. Nothing could be more ridiculous. They are high-energy dogs, totally loving and warm. Their only fault, if you could call it that, is that they think of themselves as weighing a maximum of 10 pounds and prefer sitting as close to their owner as possible.

Of course, we must mention the pit bulls. These dogs are no more born deadly than are goldfish. These dogs are victims of a number of incidents regarding attacking humans without provocation. Believe me, they were provoked and were victims of abuse called "tying or staking the dog outdoors." They reacted toward strangers and tormentors the same way a human does when tormented.

The woman who called regarding her dog was practically in tears. Here she was, the owner of a new 8-week old puppy and was told she'd made a horrible mistake — one she would regret. She was urged to get rid of her dog. Not only was she heartbroken, she was scared, too.

As it turned out, her dog was as good natured as any other. It was energetic, and it eventually enjoyed performing. It happens to be one of the best performing dogs in class, anxious to please.

It is gratifying to watch a clumsy, awkward puppy turn into a sharp, happy-to-perform co-partner with his owner. If a person enrolls in training classes to become all-knowing or all-powerful over his or her dog, the whole point of training is lost.

We have seen those breeds which have the reputation of "best performing" fall short of perfection. But we see other breeds supposedly renowned as mean or stubborn turn into stars of the class.

Dogs have been known to mirror their owners personality and body language. So if you don't like who you see...

Chiefs fall to Monroe

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Have the Chiefs of New Boston Huron turned the corner? That's what head baseball coach Jon Labeau hopes after his team lost a 3-2 thriller on Friday to Huron Conference rival Monroe Jefferson.

"We looked bad in our first two outings," Labeau said, "but we played a good game against Jefferson. I am hoping that that game sort of helped us turn the corner."

Labeau sent southpaw pitcher John Page to the mound against Jefferson and he scattered two hits, struck out six and walked four. In his six innings of work, Page only threw 80 pitches "and looked very good," according to the Huron coach.

Jefferson put three runs on the scoreboard in the bottom of the second and that was enough. The Chiefs led 1-0 briefly in that inning and scored their only other run in the fourth.

In the season opener, Page was tagged for a 10-6 setback inflicted by Monroe Catholic Central which spotted the Chiefs a run in the first inning before they struck for two in the second and four in the third.

Page went five innings, allowed 10 hits, walked six and also struck out five before yielding to Andy Jackson who pitched the last two innings and gave up four hits.

Tom Volpi was the winner. He carded six whiffs and an equal number of walks.

Jackson got aboard all four times he batted, collecting two

Before the fall...

It's not over until it's over, Yankee baseball manager Yogi Berra used to say. Unfortunately, Gerald Gibson, Inkster High hurdler had to learn the fact the hard way. Leading the field, Gibson (in photo at right) failed to negotiate one of the hurdles and he crashed to asphalt. The painful fall reinjured an earlier hurt that may sideline the Viking athlete for the next two meets, according to coaches. ANP photos by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

Tigers stay hot on trail of 'A' title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville remained in the hunt for the Wolverine 'A' Conference baseball title as they hammered Monroe 18-8 last week.

Coach John Bertz's Tigers also swept a doubleheader Saturday from neighboring Romulus, 8-3, and 5-1 to enter the week of competition with a 5-2 overall and a 2-1 league record.

Whether the Tigers are for real will be determined how they fare with defending and undefeated conference co-champ, Wayne Memorial. The two teams had a date to meet in Wayne yesterday, weather permitting. Wayne shares the title with Monroe.

"I consider it a key game," said Bertz, commenting on the encounter. "The outcome of that game will tell us about where we stand this year. Wayne has another fine team but no one is counting us out - win or lose - against them."

Righthander Phil Feist went the distance against the Eagles in the opener and posted his first victory of the 1988 campaign 8-3. He notched five strikeouts and walked three. Loser Keith Brothers also struck out five but gave up six walks.

I am happy at the way we are playing. The kids are enjoying it. And I am, too. It's the kind of season we were hoping for, but we still have a long way to go.

— Coach John Bertz
Belleville High

The Eagles also failed to give their pitcher any defensive support. They committed four errors.

Belleville scored what proved to be enough runs to win this one in the second inning, scoring seven times as Brothers issued Mike Harding a base on balls. He moved to second when John Richards' grounder was booted and Dave Fain laced a run-scoring double. Jerry Bitner then doubled off of Brothers to produce the second run and when Phil Feist also was safe on an infield hit, it put runners on first and second. Bill Ashley walked, loading the bases for Scott Janack who didn't pass up the opportunity.

Janack latched on to a slow-breaking Brothers' curve and put it over the left field fence for his first grand slam homer of his prep career.

The Tigers were not finished with Brothers yet. After he walked Vince Sacco, who stole second, Brothers also issued a run-scoring single to Blaine Armstrong.

Romulus came back in the top of the sixth with Ken Blevins' two-run homer with Sean Shelby aboard.

In the nightcap, playing against strong winds, Belleville surfaced with a 5-1 victory as Ashley chalked up his second victory of the year on a four-hitter. He whiffed seven of the 13 batters he faced. The only batter to reach base while he was on the mound got there after a dropped third strike. John Richards worked the last three innings for the Tigers. Michael Laymon was charged with the loss for the Eagles.

The Tigers scored three runs in the bottom of the second with two away when Mike Coleman was safe on an error, moved to second when Laymon walked Rod Schellenberger. When Joe Yuhas's flyball was dropped for a two-run error, the Tigers had enough to win. But Eric Snider then came through with a single to right center for the third run of the inning.

Belleville rules relays

Boys finish first in a field of 9 teams

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville High boys' track & field team parlayed four first places and a pair of seconds to win the 1988 version of the Tiger Relays on Saturday.

"We received solid performances all day," said Belleville Coach David Medley. "And this was the first time we had an opportunity to compete when it wasn't cold."

With temperatures reaching the high 60's on Saturday, Belleville put the pressure on a field of eight and came out on top with 12 points to spare. The Tigers finished with a total of 86 team points to turn back a serious challenge from Plymouth Salem, which was second with 74.

The rest of the field: Redford Union (45), Novi (39), Plymouth Canton (34), Taylor Truman (23), Woodhaven (18), Walled Lake Western (13) and Garden City (9) was not a threat.

The Tigers claimed gold medals in two of the five field events. With Maurice Brantley, all-around athlete Al Til-man and George Dumont, the Tigers won the high jump relay with a total of 17 feet, 4 inches. Brantley had the best leap (6 feet).

Belleville also surfaced as the winner in the discus throw thanks to the performances of John Barlage, Marc Liskey, and Brian Gulliver who combined for 364 feet, 4 inches. Gulliver's toss of 122 feet opened the door for the victory.

In the 880-yard relay, none was better than the Belleville foursome of Mike Gentry, Virgil Chandler, Garrett Clark and Tilman who posted the winning time of 1:37.2. In the mile relay, again with Tilman as the anchor, the Tigers came up with the victory with Gentry, Clark and Courtney Washington rounding out the lineup. The winning time was 3:29.7.

The Tigers also had three second places.

Belleville carried a 1-1 conference record and a 2-1 overall mark into the week. They have Monroe to contend with on the home Thursday, but will return home to take on Southgate Anderson on Tuesday.

Girls post their 'best day' in history

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Sweeping eight out of a possible 11 first places and scoring more than 25 points over their closest rival, Belleville High girls' track and field team enjoyed their 'best day' ever at their own relays.

Coach Michael Garland's Tigers dominated the relays with a 100-point total.

"It was absolutely a great day. Unbelievable. Everybody came up with their best times and what else can I say than that I hope we can do this all year long?"

The Tigers posted a solid victory over a highly-respected Garden City contingent which finished second with 72 points, followed by Woodhaven (60), Novi (59) and Northville (42).

Belleville received a superlative overall performance from diminutive Valentine Stumpf. The 90-pound plus freshman anchored the winning distance medley relay team, covering the mile in 5:28, then returned a half-hour later to run her Absolutely great. Unbelievable. What else can I say, but that I hope this continues for the entire season?

— Coach Garland

second mile in the mile relay and she responded in 5:23 flat.

"Those times are better than what many boys can do," noted assistant coach Dave Medley. "She's just a phenomenal athlete. And remember, she's only a freshman."

Led by Erica Dempsey, the Tigers captured the shot put relay with a total effort of 233 feet, 6 inches. Dempsey had a put of 72 feet. Joining her on the winning trio were Shonda Cleveland and Jeannie Bracken.

The same trio also finished first in the discus relay. But Bracken had the best individual toss of 85 feet.

In the meantime, Garland put a shuttle hurdles relay team of Linda Parent, Tiffany Eton, Holly Medley and Kesha Pogue into the field and the foursome came back with the winning time of 1:16.5.

In the 880-yard relay, the Tigers had no peers. Parent combined with Rosemary Hampton, Pogue and Carol Tyson to produce the winning time of 1:51.2.

Then, in the distance medley relay, Ann Courtney, Mitzi Herkimer, Carla Blackwell and Stumpf were clocked in the winning time of 14:03.2. The Tigers had the winning combination for the 2-mile relay with Lora Alberta, Becky Brown, Heather Rynicki and Courtney who churned a 11:10.4 in winning the event.

Garland chose Vetra Chandler, Eaton, Pogue and Tyson to represent the Tigers for the 440-yard relay. They won with a 52.9 clocking.

In the one-mile relay, Belleville breezed to victory with Alberta, Becky Vitale, Stumpf and Herkimer who were clocked in 4:28.1.

However, Trenton brought the Tigers back to earth as the Trojans handed the local runners their first setback of the 1988 Wolverine 'A' Conference campaign.

Garland and the Tigers return to the track on Thursday when they will travel to Monroe for a 4 p.m. conference confrontation with a team considered one of the teams to beat for the title. On Tuesday, they will host Southgate Anderson.

Wayne Memorial, the defending Wolverine 'A' Conference champs, continues to display championship form and remains the team for the rest of the pack to catch.

If Belleville has title aspirations, then coach Medley and Garland will have to find a way to stop the Zebras.

Back in time

Hitting the dirt, this unidentified Romulus player was back in time. Unfortunately for the Eagles, they just couldn't muster enough hits and lost a pair to out-of-the-league rivals, Belleville. Coach Dennis Stoh and his Eagles are still looking for their first victory of the 1988 campaign after nine trips to the diamond. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

Romulus launches softball season with key victory over Ypsi

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It took extra innings, but pitcher Liz Ward and Romulus made softball history last week.

Ward hurled a six-hitter, notched 11 strikeouts en route to a 7-6 victory over Ypsilanti in the league opener. It was also a notable triumph for the Eagles because it was their first ever South Central Conference victory in their new conference.

"It was a well-earned victory," said Bill Curhan, head coach. "Our kids refused to quit and that is a sign of an outstanding team. It obviously was an excellent way to begin a new league."

Tied at six-all at the end of the regulation seven-innings, Romulus settled the issue in the eighth when the Eagles pushed across what proved to be the winning run. They got the decisive run when leadoff batter Jennifer Daniel walked, moved to second on a passed ball. Then, after one out, Michele Scarrow got aboard on an infield hit with Daniel stopping at second.

When Shannon DuDonis's grounder was booted, the Eagles had the bases loaded and Michele Good at the plate.

Ypsilanti drew in its infield in hopes of cutting off the winning run at the plate. Good bounced a dribbler to second who fired it home, but not in time to get Daniel who scored the winning run.

Good also came through with a game-saving catch in right center that had all of two runs written on it if the ball had managed to fall in safely.

Romulus launched the 1988 campaign, splitting a doubleheader with Taylor Kennedy. Kennedy edged the Eagles 5-4 as Ward suffered the loss. Heather McMillan got the victory as both hurlers turned in six-hitters.

Kim Lyles accounted for three of the Eagles six hits and also had two RBIs.

The girls refused to quit and they wanted to win this one badly. And they did. It's a sign of an outstanding team.

— Coach Bill Curhan

In the nightcap, reliever Daniel, who took charge after three innings from Lyles, earned an 8-7 victory over Taylor. Daniel also helped her own cause with a pair of hits while Lyles wound up with two for three for the game.

Romulus came back with a lopsided 19-4 victory over Taylor Truman as Ward chalked up the victory. The Eagles swept the twin bill as they blanked Truman 12-0 behind Daniel's excellent pitching. Lori Berlinn, an All-Area cager, had an excellent series against Truman.

However, at the Taylor Truman Tournament, Romulus saw its three-game win streak snapped by a tough Garden City 8-1 as Ward was charged with her first setback of the year. She got little help from the defense, as seven of those eight Garden City runs were unearned.

The next time out, the Eagles avenged their loss to Garden City as Ward, in relief of the injured Daniel, won a 5-4 cliffhanger. Ward took over the mound when Daniel jammed her hand in the fifth inning sliding back into third base. However, the stubborn freshman refused to be benched and remained in the game. She managed to get aboard three times and a spectacular catch robbed Garden City of two runs in the fifth.

Lyles had a superb day at the plate as she collected three hits and batted in four of the five runs the Eagles placed on the scoreboard.

Checking in safely, Romulus's Sean Shelby came up with one of the six hits against Belleville in the opening game of a two-game series on Saturday. Shelby scored when Kevin Blevins drilled his first homer of the 1988 campaign. ANP photo by Ann Grimes

Attention area prep coaches

Area high school track, tennis and softball coaches are encouraged to telephone the results of their games and matches to the Associated Newspapers' Sports Desk from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Friday.

Staff Writer Tom Mooradian will be on hand to handle the sports news and compile league standings for area teams.

Varsity baseball coaches will be contacted for scores on Sunday from 2 p.m. until 10 p.m.

For further information, contact Mooradian during regular business hours, from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Inkster seeking teams

If you're planning on entering a baseball or softball team in the various Inkster Parks and Recreation summer leagues, you better get your application into the recreation offices before next week.

Recreation officials announced today that registration for the Pee Wee/Midget instructional baseball program is nearing. Registration will be accepted on May 2. The program will begin on June 20.

There is a $6 registration fee. Registration also will be accepted for the Junior Baseball program, ages 11 to 16. There is a $5 registration fee for this league.

The city is also seeking entries for its adult men's softball league and a May 9 deadline has been set to enter teams. Managers must come up with $325 for registration fees. On May 20, the city will also be accepting entries for its adult men's Class C softball league. Registration for this league is $325.

The recreation department is planning to field an adult co-ed softball league as well as a adult women's softball league.

Those needing further information about recreation baseball or softball should contact the recreation offices at 728-7530.

Romulus losing streak is at 9

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The 1988 Romulus High baseball team is setting all kinds of records.

And Coach Dennis Stoh is wondering what can be done to stop it.

The Eagles dropped a twin bill Saturday to Belleville which extended their losing streak to nine games. They have yet to win one this season.

Not only are they closing in on the loss record but the Eagles also have committed a phenomenal 39 errors in those nine games, and that also appears to be a record.

"I believe that I have the best 0-9 team in the state," said Stoh after the Eagles double loss at Belleville. "It's obvious that we are not playing defense. When you commit 39 errors you're not going to win very many ballgames."

Belleville exploded for seven runs in the second inning to humble pitcher Keith Brothers and the Eagles 8-3 in the first game and the Tigers also handed pitcher Michael Laymon a 5-1 setback in the nightcap.

The Eagles almost overcame eight errors in losing to Garden City 9-6 in a non-conference game earlier in the week. Stoh's team rallied for six runs in the fourth to overcome a 5-0 deficit only to give up three unearned runs in the bottom of the sixth to lose.

Steve Hoinka went the distance and took the loss. He pitched a 10-hitter, struck out four and walked three while Joe Sobas, one of three hurlers who saw action for Coach Bob Dropp's club, was the winner.

Jeremy Krol's three-run homer in that pivotal sixth settled the issue.

Ken Blevins drilled a two-run single to highlight the six-run Romulus fourth inning.

The Eagles return to the rough waters of the South Central Conference this week as they meet Ann Arbor Huron and Pioneer, two consistent SCC title contenders. They played the River Rats on Tuesday and on Thursday will host Pioneer.

"We have to find that elusive first victory," Stoh added. "It's important that these kids get some confidence. That's what they need now above everything else."

Belleville continued its torrid baseball streak Saturday as the Tigers swept a pair from neighboring Romulus. Tiger Eric Snider hits the dirt and is safe on this play. Belleville took the opener 8-3, then came back for a 5-1 victory to boost its record to 5-2 on the year. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

Wheatley ties Robichaud mark

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Freshman Tyrone Wheatley continued to show signs of greatness as he zeroed in on the Robichaud long jump record.

In a double dual meet with Willow Run and River Rouge providing the competition, the 15-year-old Robichaud High versatile athlete soared 23 feet, 1 1/2 inches to win the long jump competition and equal the school record established in the mid-1970's by Everett Charleston.

"Tyrone has outstanding potential," said Robichaud Coach Jeff Flounory. "Before he ends his prep career, he will probably own a score of records."

Wheatley's efforts helped the Bulldogs beat Willow Run 89-33 for their first Suburban Athletic Conference victory in three starts. But it wasn't enough to stop the Panthers of Rouge which emerged on top of a 70-57 score.

Flounory felt his team did as well as could be expected, he said. "Off of what we have been doing for the past couple of weeks I felt this was our best overall performance of the year," Flounory said.

Wheatley also finished with a pair of other victories. He cleared 6 feet, 4 inches to take the high jump and negotiated a 10.3 in winning the 100-yard dash.

Wheatley's teammate Eugene O'Neal also came through with a triplicate. He won the mile with a 4:56, crossed the finish line first in the half-mile (2:08) and toured the 2-mile run in 11:17.0.

O'Neal also combined with Lennell Brooks, Matt White and John Studstill in winning the 2-mile relay. The winning time was 9:23.

I felt we ran well considering that in the past few weeks we haven't performed up to what I feel are our capabilities.

Coach Jeff Flounory

Robichaud also came away with three medals from the Knights of Columbus Invitational staged on Saturday at Lamphere High.

The Bulldogs finished fifth in the sprint medley with Maurice Schropshire, Carl Brown, Wheatley and Fred Matthews who were clocked in 2:37. Wheatley, Joel Wallace and Stacey Gray also finished fifth for the long jump (54 feet, 2 inches). Wheatley's jump of 20 feet, 1 inch topped the local long jumpers.

Flounory's half-mile relay of Schropshire, Brown, James Gee and Wheatley was clocked in the sixth best time of 1:35.8.

In that double dual, Robichaud also received the winning performance in the shot put from Ron James who had a toss of 45 feet, 5. He also won the discus against the Flyers of Willow Run with a 110 feet, 9 inch effort.

Against Willow Run, Schropshire was the winner in the 440 (54.1) and Gee hit the tape first for the 330-intermediate hurdles (41.7).

The Bulldogs opted not to compete in the Central Michigan Relays on Saturday. They met Highland Park on Tuesday and have a rare open date on Thursday.

He's all alone

The Tigers added two more in the fourth thanks to a pair of errors.

Southgate Anderson rallied for a run in the top of the eighth to hand the Tigers their first conference defeat 9-8. Four costly Tiger errors opened the door for the loss.

The two teams exchanged four runs in the sixth, then, in the bottom of the seventh Belleville produced the tying runs on back-to-back homers by Ashley, who collected his fifth of the year, and Janack who picked up his second.

The loss went to Coleman in relief of Bitner who worked the first four innings before handing over the chores to his teammate.

A leadoff walk, sacrifice, passed ball and an error produced the winning run for Anderson.

Belleville scored five runs in the first, added four more in the second and sixth innings and two each in the third and seventh innings to bury Monroe 18-8 and give Ashley his second victory of the year. Ashley helped his own cause with a home run, two RBIs and he also scored three times. Bitner checked in with a pair of round-trippers and five RBIs.

STEVE HAWLEY, of Wayne, recently signed a national letter of intent with the Hardin-Simmons University men's basketball team in Abilene, Texas. Hawley, a 6-foot, 2-inch, 175-pounder, played last season at Schoolcraft College, in Livonia, where he averaged a conference-leading 30.5 points per game, along with five rebounds and five assists per contest. He was named to the first team all-conference squad and hit 49 percent from the field and 77 percent from the free-throw line, while knocking in 137 three-point field goals, 52 more than Trans-America Athletic Conference leader Eric Adams, of Hardin-Simmons, last season. Hawley was also fifth in the nation among junior college players in scoring. Hawley is a graduate of Westland John Glenn High School.

300 games not so uncommon in area

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

As legend has it, a 300 game in bowling is supposed to be something difficult. A challenge that few ever achieve.

But in western Wayne County, the perfect game is as common as a Baltimore Oriole victory. Well, better make that a Detroit Tigers victory.

Jim Davis and Henry Marentette can add their names to the long and growing list of area bowlers who have rolled the perfect game.

Davis rolled his 300 game in the Sunday Night Invitational League at the Wayne Bowling and Recreation Center, 36900 Michigan Ave., Wayne.

Marentette bowled his string of strikes in the Wednesday Night Merchants League at the Town and Country Lanes, 1100 S. Wayne Road, Westland.

Eddie Davis had the high series for the week at Town and bowling

Country, with a 707.

The Wayne Bowl featured top performances by Scott Pennington (706 series), Mike Adams (636 series), Dave Nelson (715 series), Tony Woods (726 series and a 737 series), Emerson Woods (730 series), Bob White (280 game and a 816 series), Lonnie Lawrence (279 game and a 730 series), and Rose Herald (691 series).

Joyce Hizely was the top performer at the Romulus Bowling Center, 37452 Huron River Drive, Romulus. She bowled a 223 game and a 557 series.

Randy Thornton rolled a 633 series, including a 232 game, and Dave Marlow rolled a 237 game and a 607 series at the Fiesta Lanes, 38250 Ford Road, Westland.

The Westland Bowl, 5940 N. Wayne Road, Westland, featured some top scores on the ladies' side, including those of Marylin Demaree (246 game and a 616 series), Debbie Dawson (611 series) and Sue Lindsay (611 series).

The men were led by Dave Henry (290 game and a 788 series), Tom Gow (276 game and a 753 series), Charlie Staggs (265 game and a 729 series), John Pretari (258 game and a 729 series), Bob Schaaf (246 game and a 719 series), Terry Tesarz (279 game and a 716 series), Eddie Grace Jr. (257 game and a 710 series) and Jim Graham (289 game and a 714 series).

Chiasson: County parks director still very young at heart

By BETH SUNDRLA
ANP Staff Writer

Vic Chiasson is still thinking about what he wants to be when he grows up.

For now, he is director of special events for the Wayne County Parks System.

Chiasson, 36, has planned events for children of all ages, including the annual county Mud Day, the Great Marshmallow Drop, the tug-of-war across the Detroit River and the "Saturday in the Park" series.

A resident of the city of Wayne, Chiasson has worked for recreation departments in Oakland County, the city of Wayne and, now, for Wayne County. Friday was his third-year anniversary with Wayne County.

Originally from Trenton, Chiasson earned his bachelor's and master's degrees at Central Michigan University and began working full time in 1974 for Oakland County Parks and Recreation, in Pontiac. In 1979, he went to work for the city of Wayne and, after six years, took the job with Wayne County.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS: How did you get involved in this business?

CHIASSON: My first position in Oakland County, I was a recreation supervisor. I was in charge of a new program that was a mobile recreation program. We had a bunch of trailers. We had one that was a skate-mobile that had like 200 pair of roller skates. We would go down into a playground area and set up a portable skating area. It was a unique program.

We also had a swim-mobile and a puppet-mobile that had traveling puppet shows.

Then I moved into the special event programs. What we have to do in a county agency is different from a city agency because all the city programs around here are very, very good programs. So we don't try to do anything that competes with what they do. Because if we do the same sort of programs that the city is doing, we have to compete with them to get people to come to our events. It forces us to be a little bit different, so we have to come up with, shall we say, at times a little bizarre events.

ANP: Have you always wanted to work in the recreation field?

CHIASSON: I think so. When I was a kid, I was the type of kid who used to go to the playground program. I'd be there the minute the equipment box opened up. I'd go home for lunch for 15 minutes, and then I'd come back. So I was always at the playground, and even when I was at the playground, I was involved in everything that was there.

I was a playground leader in Trenton. The real key move to me being in this field professionally

QUOTE: "When I was a kid, I was the type of kid who used to go to the playground program. I'd be there the minute the equipment box opened up. I'd go home for lunch for 15 minutes, and then I'd come back."

probably happened when Ted Plaza, who is the summer supervisor over all the programs (he was over the playgrounds, the swimming pool and all the programs) had an opening when someone left to go back to college. He put me into an assistant supervisor's role. Once I did that, I knew that was kind of what I wanted to do.

I still find it's fun to do these kinds of things. I'm getting older and have children of my own now, but I still have fun doing these kinds of events.

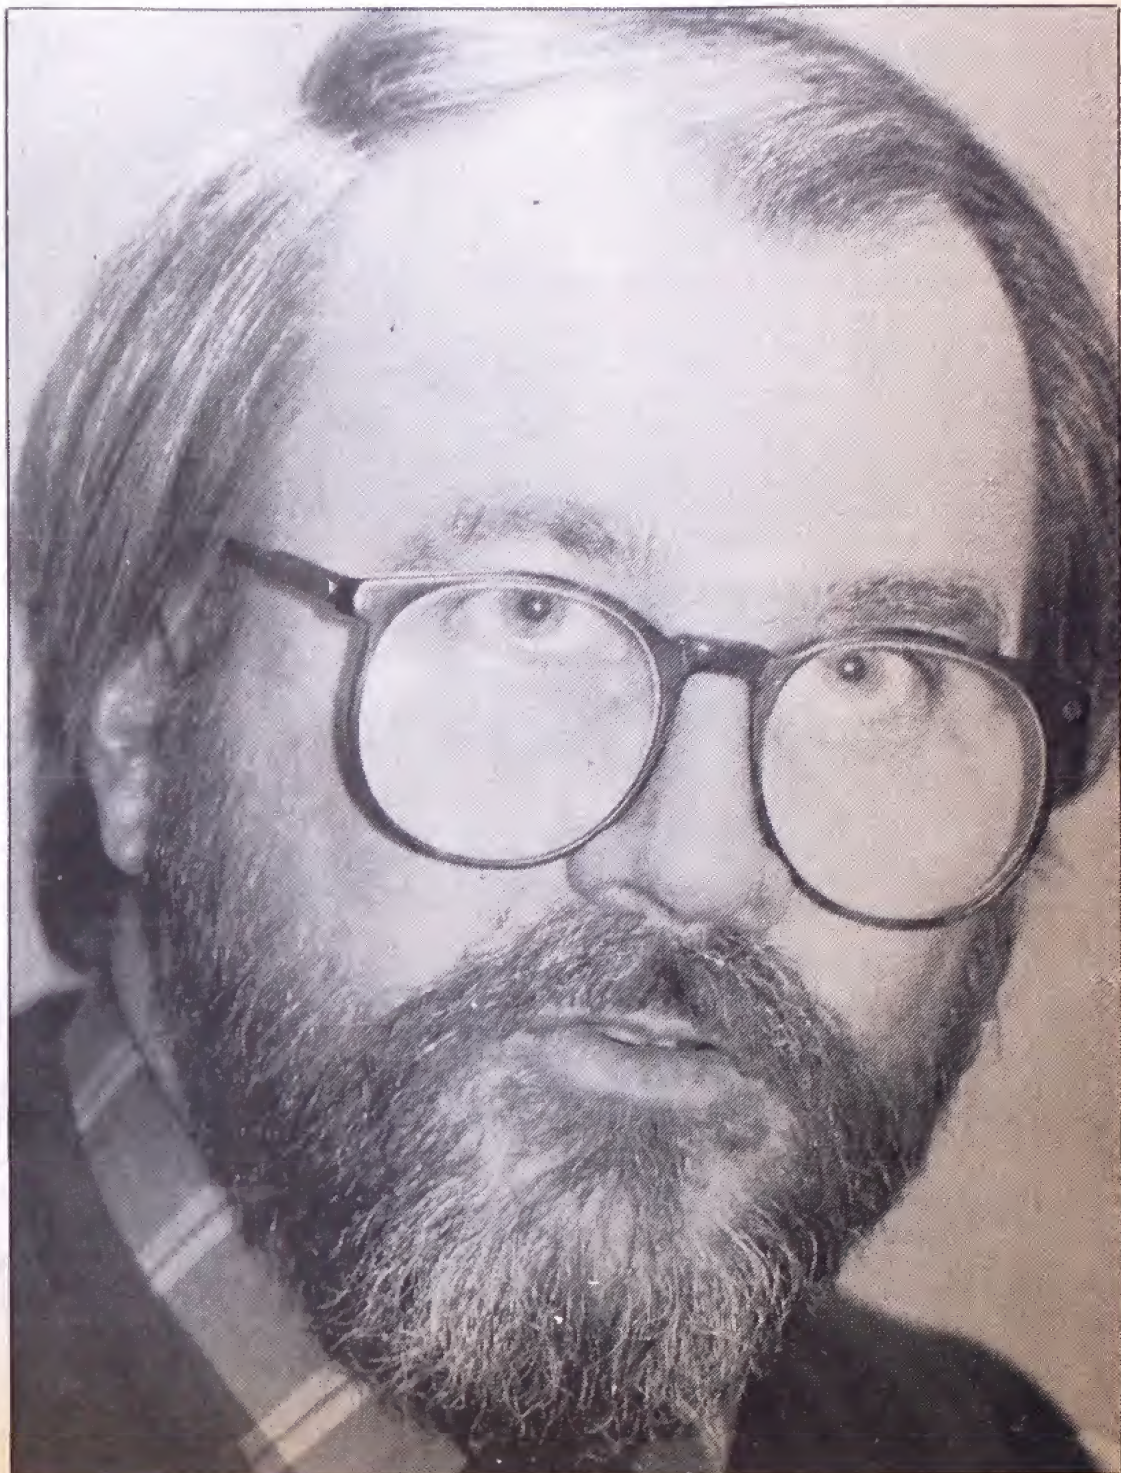

ANP: How do you come up with your ideas?

CHIASSON: I really don't know. I guess it's similar to what you do when you're putting a story together. You have a general concept or an idea. We are getting real specific with ideas now. We are talking about trying to program different activities for different ages. I'll give you an example of one.

The marshmallow drop is the event I've done for 10 years. The first time I did it I did it in Oakland County. Then I started it for the city of Wayne. The fact that the city of Wayne still does it shows it's a great program. So I'm happy that they are still doing it.

It came about when we were sitting around talking about doing an event for Easter. So we kept talking about what the traditional events are - the Easter egg hunts and things. So we just kept talking about things.

Then, somebody had heard of an event where they dropped ping pong balls out of a helicopter. So we

Vic Chiasson (above) made his creative claim to fame as a parks employee in Oakland County and the city of Wayne. Now he is in charge of parks programs for all of Wayne County. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

ELEVEN PLYMOUTH-CANTON RESIDENTS were among 62 Schoolcraft College students initiated recently into the Omicron Iota Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa fraternity. Members accepted must maintain a 3.3 grade point average with at least 12 credit hours in college-level courses. The new members included Judi Bennett, Tracy Cavalier, Rich Couturier, Georgia DeNoyer, Sarah Jesuale, Patricia Kruczek, Debra Lamay, Darla Lucas, Linda Pawling, Judith Shellhaas and Michele Shelton.

ALSO NAMED TO the Phi Theta Kappa fraternity at Schoolcraft College was Belleville resident Kathy Walcott.

BELLEVILLE RESIDENT MICHELLE O'Conner recently explored the future of space travel, while she trained for realistic space shuttle mission simulations at the U.S. Space Academy, in Huntsville, Ala. Academy trainees in grades seven to 10 used mockups of the shuttle orbiter, cockpit, Spacelab, Mission Control and space station during a two-hour mission simulation. More than 16,000 young people from across the U.S. and around the world are expected to participate in U.S. Space Camp programs this year.

CARE CENTERS OF Michigan is offering a speakers bureau available for churches, businesses, schools or any group wishing to have a speaker at their function. It will supply health care professionals who can speak on a variety of subjects, including common diseases, nutrition, coping with change, senior citizen topics, health care costs, careers and nursing home information. To receive information about the speakers bureau, call 477-7210.

FIVE AREA RESIDENTS were recently named to the dean's list for the winter term at the Detroit College of Business. Students named to the list must maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. The students include Romulus residents Monica Marie Block, Carol Ann Gunstrom and Ruth Ann Tieppo, New Boston resident William Chandler and Belleville resident Dena Brown.

THERESA SHAFFER, OF Canton, has been named to the dean's list for the winter term at Northwood Institute. Students named to the list must earn at least a 3.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

JANAI STEPP, OF Canton, an Alma College freshman, was one of 42 dancers who recently performed in the Alma Orchestral Dance Concert. The event was staged for two days in early April at the school. Stepp was in three of 14 dances, performing in "Can't Get Enough," "Raisin Rock" and "Tangerine Dream." She is majoring in international business administration.

FOUR AREA RESIDENTS were recently honored at Weber's Inn, Ann Arbor, by the Catherine McAuley Health Center for their volunteer service. The four honorees are among 700 of the center volunteers who donated more than 49,000 total hours of service in the past year in 110 different service areas. The four honored include Westland residents Anna Kwiatkowski, Viola Stanton and Barbara Stokes and Inkster resident Gloria Braden.

LORI MASHBURN, OF Westland, has been accepted to Taylor University, in Upland, Ind., for the fall term 1988. She is the daughter of Everett and Martha Mashburn.

kept thinking about it. Then I said, "Well, we can drop something out of a helicopter, but we don't want to drop something like ping pong balls." And we said it should be something soft. We started talking about Easter, and we started talking about colors.

The next thing I said is, "Well, let's drop marshmallows - marshmallows come in colors." It sort of evolved into that. A lot of ideas just came after we sit around and talk.

The program that probably took me the longest to do and probably has been the biggest challenge of any that I've done is the tug-of-war across the Detroit River. Basically, it took me six months to plan a six-minute event. To put it all together, to go to the Coast Guard and say, "Listen, could you close the river for us because we want to put a rope across the Detroit River and have a tug-of-war?" They just basically look at you and say, "Sure."

Where that idea came from is I have a lot of relatives in Canada. My parents are both true French-Canadians. We used to go to Windsor and visit my aunt a lot. We used to always go over the bridge. As we used to drive over the bridge when I was small, I said, "Gee, we could do a tug-of-war across the Detroit River."

Well, you know you say that out loud sometimes and you just don't quite believe it anyway. Now because of the International Freedom Festival, we do that event as part of it. It fits within their program very, very well.

We also do an event here called "Gone Fishin'." How that started was we were sitting around talking about what grandparents day and what grandparents and grandkids do together. I said, "Well, they go fishing. Let's tie in something to what they do."

ANP: Were you involved with Mud Day also?

CHAISSON: Yeah, in fact that's my trophy from Mud Day on the wall (a muddy shirt). I decided not to even try to wash it. Mud days have been done on playgrounds in areas all over for a long time. The twist that we added to mud day that I think makes it kind of special is crowning a Mr. and Ms. Mud.

The whole idea behind this was that kids love to play in the mud already. It gives them an opportunity to be able to do it and have a big, fat mud pit for them. While the mothers were questioning whether that was the smartest thing to do, I think a lot of the kids had fun with it. We've done it the past few years the Wednesday after Easter because the kids are out of school that week after Easter - that's always like their spring break. We thought around mid-week that parents would be able to use a break. That's why we scheduled it then.

I focus on holidays. One program in Wayne was the "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" raffle. It was started in Wayne about 1980 or 1981. Kids would write in 25 words or less why they were dreaming of a white Christmas. If there's snow on Christmas, everybody wins. If there's no snow, what we do is take a truck load of ice shavings over to the winner's house and dumped it on their lawn. That program worked out pretty well.

ANP: Do children help you come up with ideas?

CHAISSON: One child gave us an idea for an event after we built the beach volleyball courts. Volleyball is growing by leaps and bounds in local recreation departments. A lot of people would like to play throughout the year.

We did a program last year with WNIC. They wanted to have an "end to summer" party, so we built volleyball courts. Then, an 11-year-old built a beautiful sand castle. We have a new event this year. It's called "We're building castles in the sand."

We are going to do it the last weekend in July. The co-sponsor for it is the American Institute of Architects, Detroit chapter. They will be judging the sand castles. On Saturday, it will be for the kids and, on Sunday, for the adults.

ANP: What do you find most rewarding about your job?

CHAISSON: Well, you get to see the results of what you do. You're planning out what you're anticipating and what you're hoping people will like. I think one of the rewards is going to a marshmallow drop and seeing the little kids pick up their marshmallows and bring them in to get their little toy.

In Mud Day, you get to see the grin on their faces when they get to jump in the mud. I think the benefits and the rewards are that when the events happen you get to see people participating in something that you dreamed they would enjoy.

I get to create something and then actually get to see it happen. I think that's what is rewarding. Even though I have done them year after year, I still get the same kick out of it.

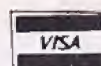

All I want to be

Eighteen girls from the Wayne-Westland schools received the opportunity to talk with city and school officials April 19, as part of a reception staged by the Wayne-Westland Business and Professional Women's organization. Students were asked what they wanted to do in life and were paired with appropriate representatives of their chosen careers. City officials from both Wayne and Westland and school officials attended the event, which was staged at the William D. Ford Vocational-Technical Center, in Westland. 2. In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear son Keith Merritt who passed away April 29, 1987, 1 year ago. God took him home - it was HIS will within our hearts he liveth still. Family & Friends

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, You who makes me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideals, You who gives me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and You who are in all the instances of my life with me, I, in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great material desires may be. I want to be with you, and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Persons may pray this prayer 3 consecutive days. After 3rd day, your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted.

THE CHARLES L. LITTLE FAMILY sincerely thank all their friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown for the loss of their loved one.

Gender no setback for secretary

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

One area resident stepped off the assembly line and into the secretarial pool. And he is happy about the change.

Brian Khan used to work for one of the big auto makers, until repeated layoffs left him with no option but to pursue another line of work.

KHAN

Khan went to California and started taking odd secretarial jobs. It wasn't unusual on the West Coast to see male secretaries.

"I bluffed my way, using the basic typing skills I learned in high school," Khan said.

Khan recently returned to this area in hopes of buying a house and even starting a company of his own some day. Now, he is working with a temporary placement service.

Khan said he is certain he has been turned down for secretarial jobs because of his gender.

"Women, I think, are more likely to hire a male secretary," Khan said. "I don't know why."

Khan said he prefers to work for women, in general, because "they really keep you hopping and give you more responsibility."

Secretarial work has come a long way, according to Khan. He is often expected to compile complicated reports and do research for his boss.

Word processing, he added, is a crucial skill for secretaries today, and it usually pays more than just a regular secretarial position.

Khan said he realizes he is still a rarity here, but he expects many more men to consider secretarial jobs.

He hopes to move up the corporate ladder on a permanent basis and, eventually, open his own word processing business.

"There's no better way to learn about a company than by being a secretary," he said.

Khan said he has so far avoided being chased around the desk and sitting on the boss's lap.

"But I do have great legs and make a great cup of coffee," he joked.

Tis the week for all good bosses to show their appreciation to the dutiful men and women who proudly wear the label "secretary."

This is Professional Secretaries Week, established in 1952 by the Professional Secretaries International to increase the public awareness of the vital role secretaries play.

Secretaries constitute the largest single segment of the office work force, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. The bureau projects that by 1995 there will be 3,064,000 secretaries, 9.6 percent more than current statistics.

The average projected salary for a secretary is $23,800.

The job descriptions for secretaries have changed during the years. From typing, filing and answering telephones, secretarial work has grown to include word processing, operating a personal computer and completing company reports.

Area secretaries have no complaints about their jobs. In fact, most agreed that they are faced with a new and interesting challenge each day.

Nora Sinelli, secretary for the law firm of Nevin Rose, said she enjoys her job immensely, even with the extra responsibility of working for an attorney.

Secretaries feel

"You have to be a stickler for detail and a very good speller," Sinelli said.

Debbie Zevalkink, secretary for Canton Supervisor James Poole, said her job requires a lot of organization, because she does everything from coordinate meetings, taking minutes at meetings and answering phones.

"It's hectic," she said. "But it is so nice doing something different every day."

Fern Dansby, a secretary for 20 years with Wayne-Westland Community Schools, said she has been fortunate to have good working relationships, and that has made her job fun and satisfying.

Dansby said the biggest change through the years has been the pay. She started out making less than $2.50 an hour.

Zevalkink said she is treated differently now than when she took her first secretarial position 13 years ago. However, she isn't so sure it's a change in her bosses.

"I think it has a lot to do with attitude," she said. "How you perceive yourself, that's often how you are treated."

Secretaries everywhere should be on the receiving end of flowers, lunches and special surprises from their bosses this week.

Or beer?

Brian Khan, a male secretary in the area, was once given a six-pack of beer in honor of secretaries week.

Office practices take on new form in education

Educators still stress the basics

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Secretaries have "come a long way" from the days when they were thought to be just a pretty face.

Educators in the secretarial field agree that now it is almost essential for a person interested in becoming a secretary to pursue post-high school secretarial training.

"They need to polish their skills and perhaps select a specific type of secretarial work," said Barbara Lazzara, a secretarial instructor at Dorsey Business School in Wayne.

She said with the advent of new technology, secretaries are now faced with a world of personal computers, charts, graphs and much bigger demands from executives.

GeorgeAnn Stallings, a secretarial instructor at Wayne Community College, said high schools are doing a very good job in handling the new technology, but additional training is necessary.

Stallings said no secretary should be without the old-fashioned, basic skills — because many of those skills are still used in the modern world.

Filing techniques, she said, always come in handy. And although a manager seldom asks a secretary to take shorthand, it's a valuable skill to have.

Stallings and Lazzara also agreed that there is a much greater need for secretaries to sharpen their decision-making and communication skills. They said more and more often, secretaries are asked to take on projects entirely on their own.

Lazzara said a step from secretary to administrative assistant is not unlikely.

With these increased skills, however, there is some additional concern.

"We, as educators, are concerned that salaries are not in line with the skills required," Stallings said.

While computers, word processors and high technology have invaded the 1980s business world, office practices educators are still stressing the basics. These include typing, shorthand and filing — skills still necessary to succeed as a secretary today, the teachers said. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

JUST MARRIED

Radloff – Vallance

Holly K. Radloff, of South Orchard Street, and Douglas W. Vallance, of Biddle Street, Wayne, were united in marriage April 16 at the First Congregational Church of Wayne. The Rev. Robert Millar officiated during the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Radloff, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. She is a graduate of John Glenn High School and works at Mark Chevrolet.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, of Wayne. He is a graduate of Wayne Memorial High School and works at Spartan Foods.

About 275 people attended the event. The church was decorated with bows and flowers. Music was provided by Howard Mehler, on the piano, and soloists Paulette Bint and Fred Radloff, the bride's sister and brother.

The bridal dress was a white, satin gown, with a high, lace collar and yolk, long train, with pearls, lace and appliques on skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses, cascading in front of her dress, which she borrowed from her sister, Paulette Bint.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Kim Normandin, a friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Paulette Bint, Allison Speaks and Kasi Patterson.

Gary Vallance, the groom's brother, was best man. Ushers included Pete Gruich, Brian Tatum and Steven Bint.

Melissa Radloff, the bride's niece, was the flowergirl. James Patterson served as ringbearer.

A reception followed the ceremony at Roma's of Garden City. The two traveled to the Pocono Mountains for their honeymoon.

Food

This pie is truly heavenly

sue willett
just desserts

Dieters, forgive me for what I am about to do . . . for the dessert recipe I am about to reveal is one that makes strong men weak and dieters fall by the wayside every time.

Obviously, desserts are very important to me, and this is probably the most exquisite, wonderful creation I have ever attempted. Serving this delicacy is inviting compliments from the severest critics and even those who claim not to like chocolate (fools!) will go weak at the first bite of this pie.

It has been claimed as the secret creation and recipe of many a chef...but I suspect it has been around for many years although there aren't too many variations on this recipe for it. In all dessertdom, I suspect that this may truly be the most irresistible.

This recipe has been tested and will work without fail if followed exactly to result in an absolutely heavenly treat. Enjoy!

Chocolate angel pie

CRUST

4 egg whites (reserve yolks for filling)
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar (be sure it is fresh)
1 cup granulated sugar

Preheat oven to 275 degrees. Whip the egg whites until foamy. Add the cream of tartar and continue beating. Add the sugar gradually, beating all the while. Continue beating until the egg whites are stiff. Spread the mixture evenly and as smoothly as possible on the bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate, buttered lightly. Build up the sides carefully so the shell will hold the filling. Bake the meringue at 275 degrees for one hour. Remove from the oven and cool. The crust should be lightly browned. When cool, it will crack slightly, like a macaroon.

FILLING

12 ounces semisweet chocolate
1/4 cup hot water
1 1/2 tablespoons instant powdered coffee
1 cup heavy cream
2 Tablespoons Kahlua

Melt the chocolate in hot water in the top of a double boiler. Add coffee to chocolate mixture, blend well and cool. Whip the cream with the Kahlua and fold into mixture. Spoon into meringue shell. Refrigerate for four to five hours.

TOPPING

1 cup heavy cream
4 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint fresh strawberries, washed and drained, then hulled and dried. (Do this just before you are ready to use them so they do not become waterlogged)
1 10-ounce bar bitter or semi-sweet chocolate for shaving

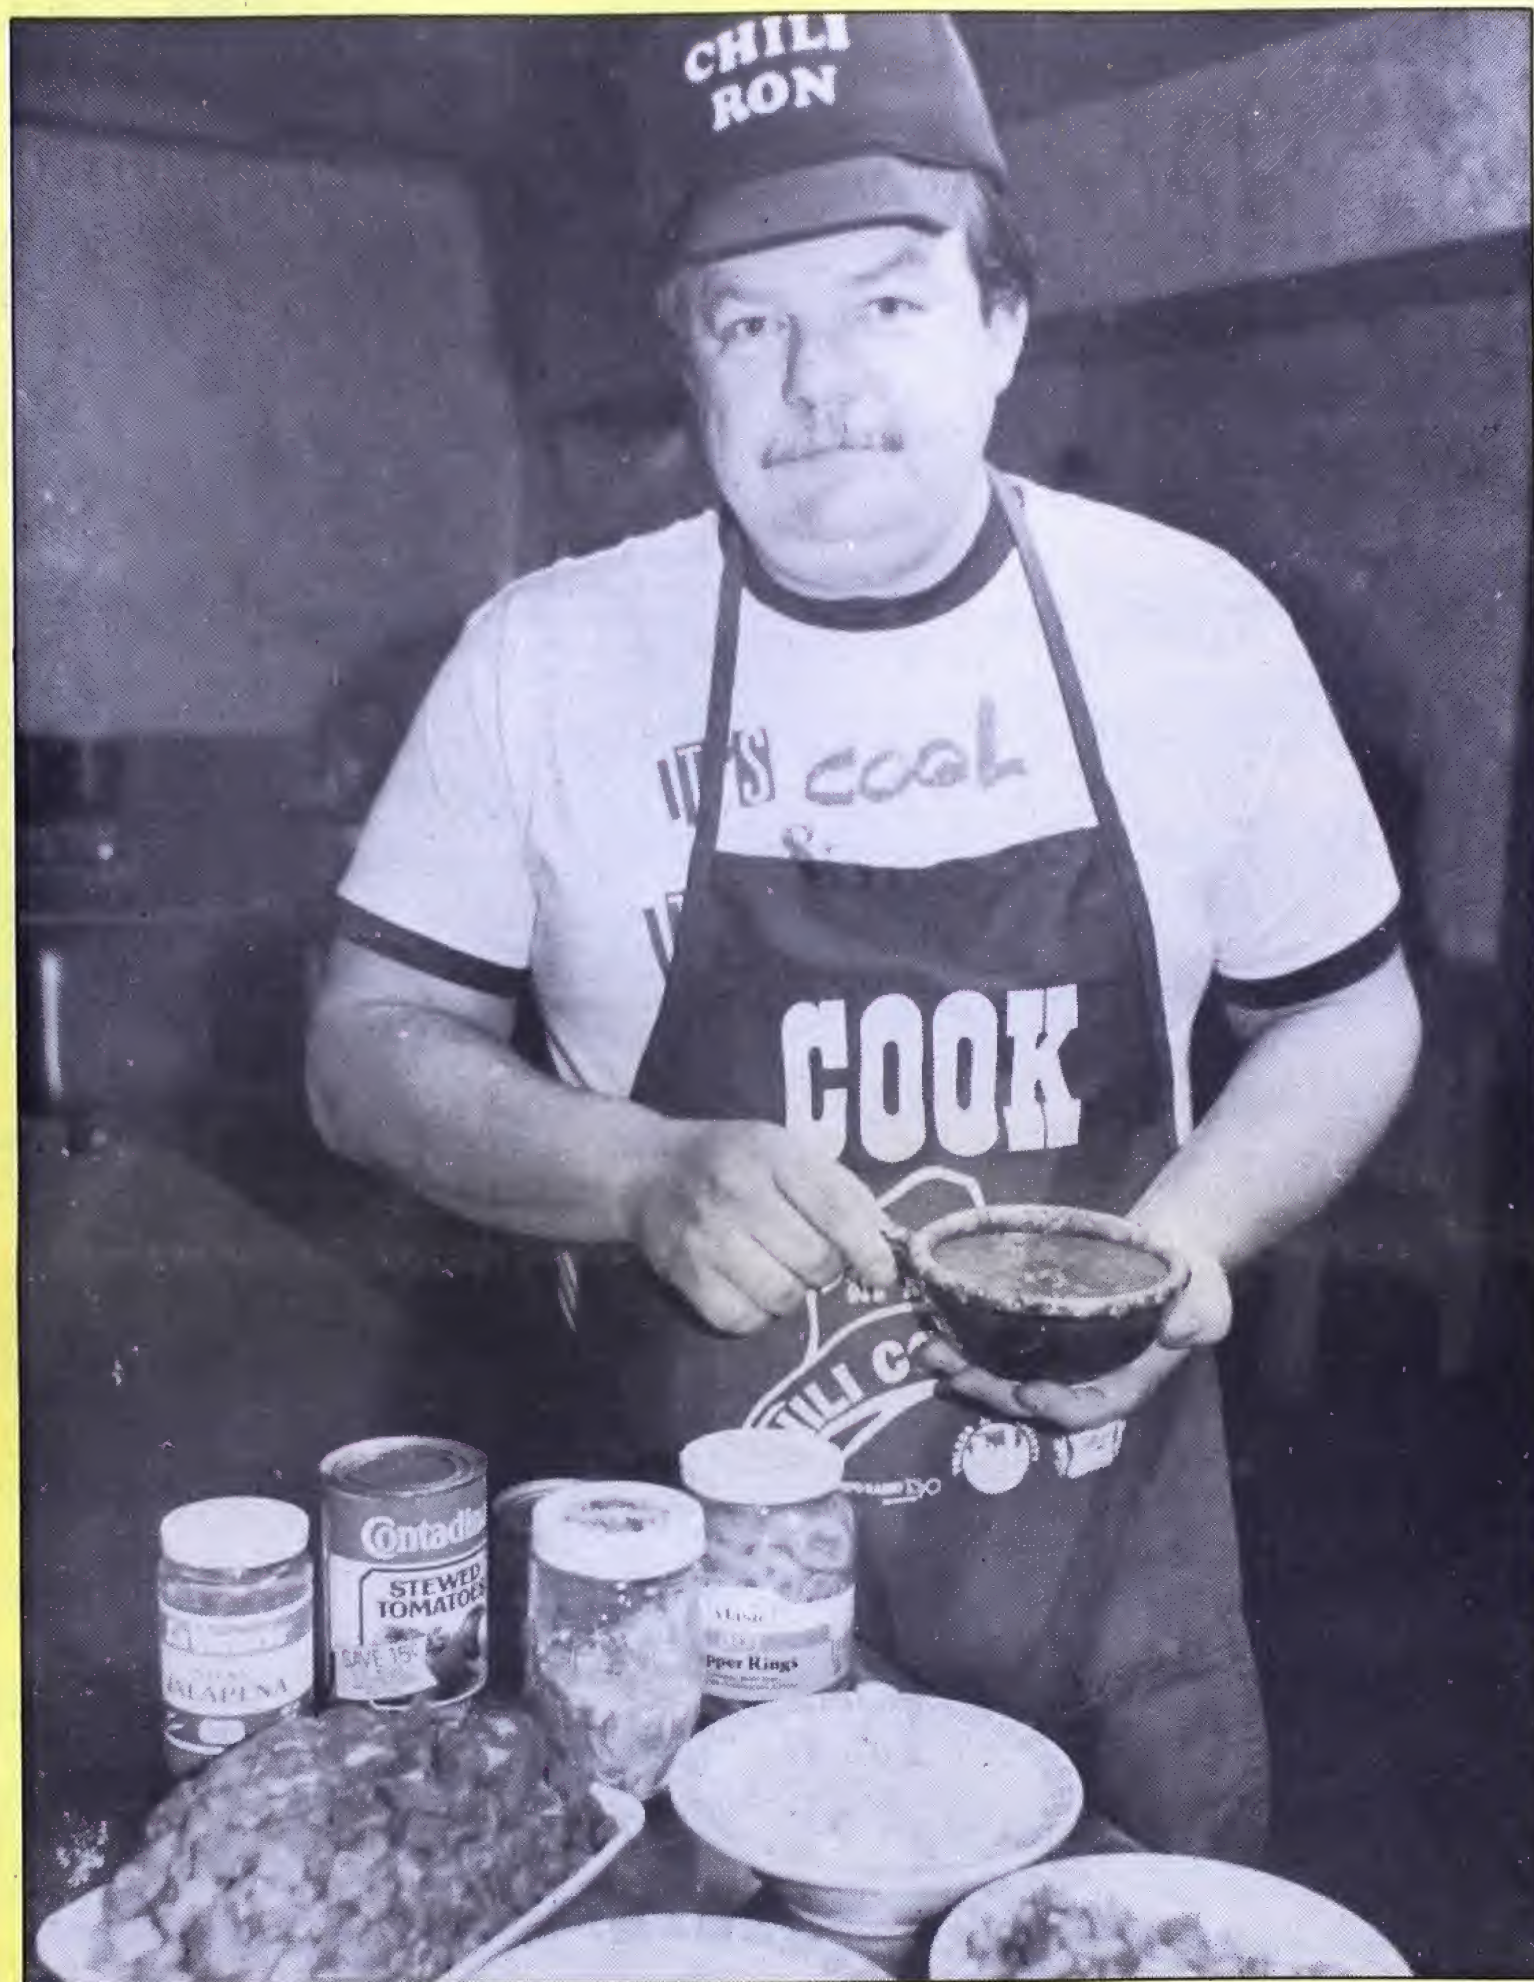

Beat the cream with the sugar and vanilla until it is stiff. Spread it over the top of the filling, swirling it attractively with a spatula. Just before serving, garnish with the strawberries, and grate curls of chocolate over the entire pie.

And, while discussing the very best in dessert treats, there is a pie shell known far and wide by really excellent cooks as a simple, but supremely elegant base for several desserts. This heavenly creation can be filling with chocolate pudding, mousse or softened ice cream and chilled to provide a really wonderful dessert.

Once again, my apologies to all the dieters, but I just can't help myself.

Local residents to compete in cook-off

By BETH SUNDRLA
ANP Staff Writer

Some like it hot. At least, Ron Cubberly, of Belleville, and several of his competitors in the annual Great Chili Cook-off do. The event will be staged April 30 and May 1 at the Saline Farm Council grounds, in Saline.

The cook-off is a benefit for the National Kidney Foundation.

At the cook-off this year, 120 chili cooks plan to compete - 80 on Saturday and 40 on Sunday. The Saturday event is a sanctioned one, meaning beans and other fillers can't be used in the recipes. On Sunday, however, the "renegade cook-off" is scheduled - and that means anything goes.

In the Saturday competition, cooks will compete for airfare and the honor of attending the International Chili Society Cookoff, to be staged in California in October.

On Sunday, cooks will be competing for a trip to Mackinac Island and a guaranteed slot in the sanctioned cook-off next year.

The public can sample chili for 25 cents per cup.

Cubberly will be pitting his own Green River Chili against Red Wing Chili, Classic Chili and - ready or not - Tongue Torture. This is the Belleville resident's second chance to compete in the event.

"When you travel around from area to area, you find the taste in chili is quite different," Cubberly said.

He and his wife have traveled to Kentucky, Ohio and across Michigan, competing in the cook-offs. They plan to compete in Windsor and hope to make the International cook-off in California.

During the years, Cubberly began chopping his vegetables more finely and began using less of the tomato products in his recipes.

"That seems like the requirement for real, award-winning chili. They don't like to see real visible vegetables and don't want a real red chili product," Cubberly said.

Cubberly and his wife practice their recipes regularly at Shane's restaurant, in Ypsilanti.

Cubberly said his secret to good chili is tender meat that will cook to being tender in three hours (the time limit at the cook-off).

"We use sirloin tip. We also use a well-balanced blend of spices - nothing overpowering and nothing lacking," he said.

Cubberly said his chili is about medium on the hotness scale.

"They seem to like it that way. Real-hot chili doesn't seem to win. It kind of overpowers the flavor," he explained.

Cubberly also has a cooking support act in Terry Amyx and the Green River Band, which will be performing during the cook-off and also helping with the cooking.

But Cubberly won't be alone at the event.

Joe Wnuk and Curt Rellinger, of Westland, better known as Chili Joe and Chef Curtis, are competing as a team on both Saturday and Sunday.

Wnuk and Rellinger make Red Wing Chili - and even use a hockey stick to stir the ingredients.

The team has been cooking chili for seven years and recently won first place in a cook-off in Jackson, which guaranteed them slots in the Saline cook-off.

The Red Wing chili includes a token amount of octopus, a traditional symbol at Red Wing games.

"Curt and I sit down and write recipes. We can taste the ingredients in our minds. That's when the skill comes in," Wnuk said.

"Then we got into this show-manship stuff," he continued.

Rellinger and Wnuk have so many recipes that they plan to write a chili cookbook. This year, however, they plan to stick with their award-winning Red Wing Chili.

The secrets of success

Among the many chili recipes to be included in the Great Chili Cook-off this year are several concoctions made by local residents. These include:

Green River Chili

5 pounds boneless beef, cut in 1/2-inch cubes with fat removed
1 pound ground beef, browned and drained
4 stalks celery, diced
2 pounds yellow onions, diced
4 to 8 jalapeno peppers, minced
6 garlic cloves, minced
29-ounce can tomatoes
16-ounce can tomato sauce
4 cups water
4 teaspoons chili powder
4 teaspoons ground cumin
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon sugar
2 teaspoons onion powder
3 teaspoons beef bouillon granules
1/2 teaspoon coriander
Salt to taste, starting with 1/2 teaspoon

In 2 gallon heavy stock pot, add cubed beef, celery, onions, peppers, garlic. Saute over medium high heat until meat is brown and vegetables start to become tender, about 1/2 hour. Keep pot covered, but stir frequently so ingredients don't burn to the bottom.

Add all spices and dried ingredients, and water. Continue cooking over medium high heat until vegetables are tender. Keep pot covered, stir, simmer for 30 more minutes.

Add browned ground beef, tomatoes and tomato sauce, stir well. Reduce heat to medium low, simmer for another two hours. Keep pot covered, but also stir frequently. Serve. Makes 1 gallon.

Red Wing Chili

20 pounds coarse ground beef
5 pounds octopus, sauteed in red wine
10 large green bell peppers, chopped
15 large spanish onions, chopped
30 large celery stalks, chopped
12 large jalapeno peppers, chopped fine
10 (28-ounce) cans tomatoes, chopped
12 (28-ounce) cans tomato sauce
6 (12-ounce) cans Olympia beer
1 (6-ounce) bottle Serrana sauce
80 cups Detroit water
65 tablespoons chili powder
6 teaspoons black pepper
5 teaspoons mole poblano
3 teaspoons red pepper sauce
5 teaspoons salt

Brown meats. Saute onions, peppers, celery, add to large pot with remaining ingredients. Simmer for four hours. Makes 50 quarts.

Classic Chili

5 pounds Chirizo sausage
3 pounds ground chuck
6 to 8 sausage onions, medium, diced
1 package celery hearts, chopped
1 whole garlic, diced
1 medium green pepper, chopped
6 to 8 cans small red beans
2 large cans tomato juice
1 large can tomato paste
1 cup chili peppers, chopped, red or green
1 small can chili powder
1/2 small can cumin
2 tablespoons black pepper
2 tablespoons salt, optional

YOUR CHOICE; METHOD OF HEALING

Those of us who are in ill health, will seek the services of one who is trained in the healing arts. We wish to place ourselves under the care of one who will restore our health.

If we have never been under chiropractic care in the past, we will then wish to know what chiropractic can do for us? Will it improve my condition? How will chiropractic restore my health?

As a chiropractic patient, you will receive no drugs or undergo no surgery for your sickness.

How then will you get well without the use of drugs or surgery?

To properly understand this, we must realize that there is A CAUSE OF ILL HEALTH. This cause must be found and corrected to restore good health.

What is this CAUSE and how can chiropractic correct it?

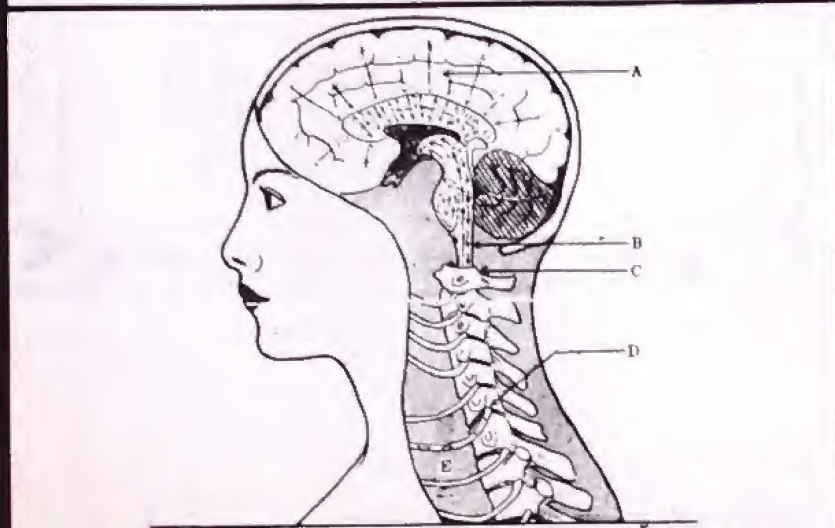

After your case history has been taken, a SPINAL EXAMINATION will follow to locate the cause of your sickness.

SPINAL EXAMINATION

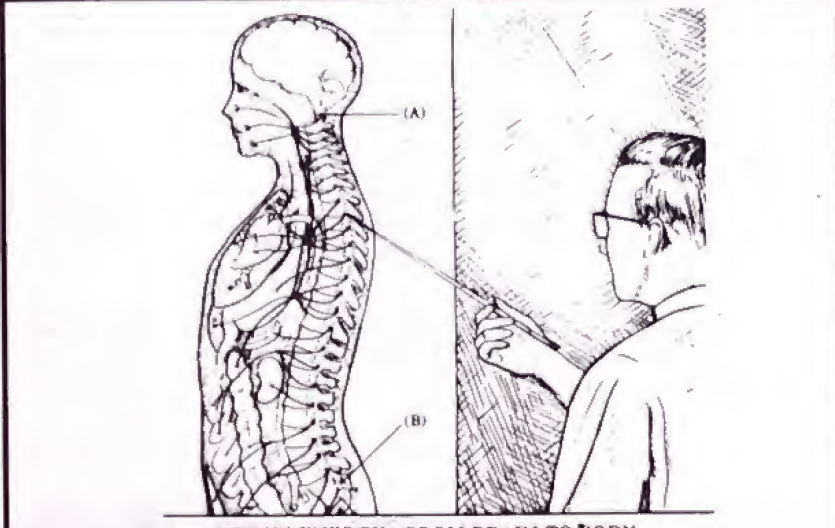

By use of X-Ray machine, nerve tracing instruments or by feeling (palpation) the chiropractor examines the spine. He will then determine if there are any vertebrae (bony segments of the spine) out of place thus causing pressure upon the nerves.

But why examine the spine when our trouble is elsewhere? WHAT HAVE THESE OUT OF PLACE VERTEBRAE TO DO WITH OUR ILLNESS? WHAT IS NERVE PRESSURE?

All our bodily functions such as digestion, heart beat or breathing receive mental impulses or nerve energy from the brain, (A).

These mental impulses flow down spinal cord, (B). Spinal cord enters spine, (C). Small openings between vertebrae (D), permit nerves, (E), to emerge and to carry these vital mental impulses or nerve energy to all parts of our bodies. (See next page.) THESE VERTEBRAE ARE MOVABLE. THUS WE CAN SEE SHOULD A VERTEBRA SLIP OUT OF PLACE, THAT WOULD NARROW THE OPENING THUS PINCHING THE NERVE.

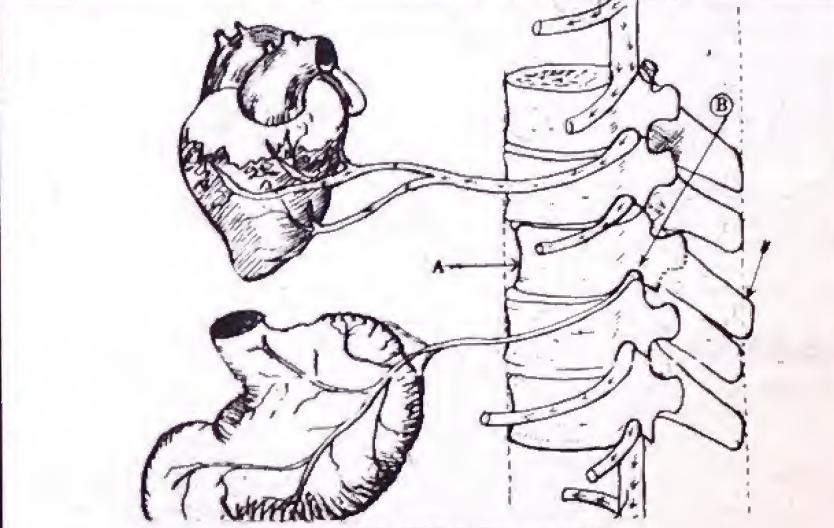

NERVE ENERGY; FROM BRAIN TO BODY

Our spine consists of 24 movable bony segments called vertebrae. The spinal column is not a solid bony structure.

Rather it is hollow in its center to permit spinal cord, (A) to enter at the top and continue through its center to bottom of spine, (B).

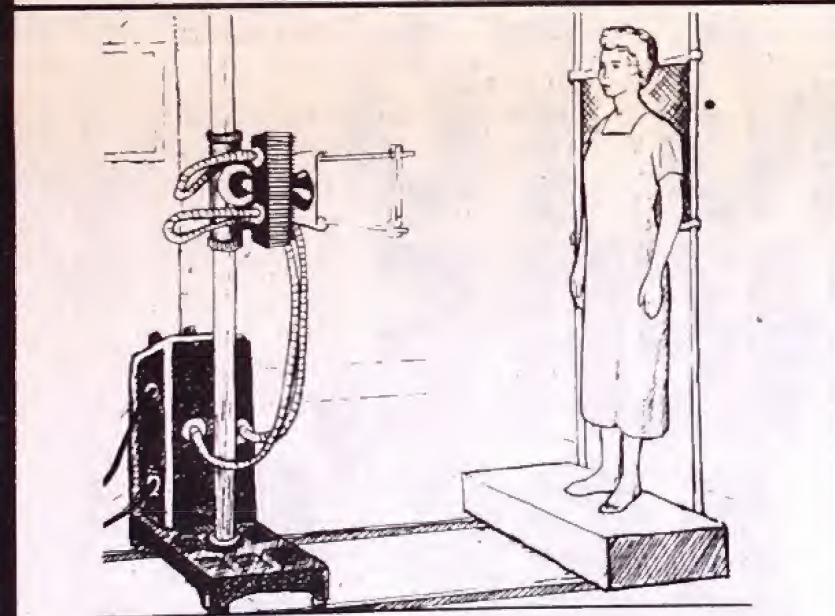

In between each vertebra are small openings to permit nerves, which branch off spinal cord, to emerge and to be distributed to various organs.

SUBLUXATION; THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

Since our vertebrae of the spine are movable, it is then possible for one to slip out of place, (A).

When this happens, it will narrow opening (B) thus pressing upon the nerve. This is called a subluxation. It will interfere with normal flow of nerve energy. Any interference with the normal transmission of vital mental impulses or nerve energy from brain to organs will result in sickness.

X-RAY EXAMINATION

Very beneficial in the examination of the patient is the X-Ray machine. If your chiropractor advises an X-Ray examination, your spine will then be X-Rayed, perhaps at different angles, to reveal its condition.

Spinographs (X-Ray films of spine) are of great aid in locating subluxations.

X-RAY ANALYSIS

After the X-Ray's have been taken, the films will be analyzed to determine if a subluxation is present.

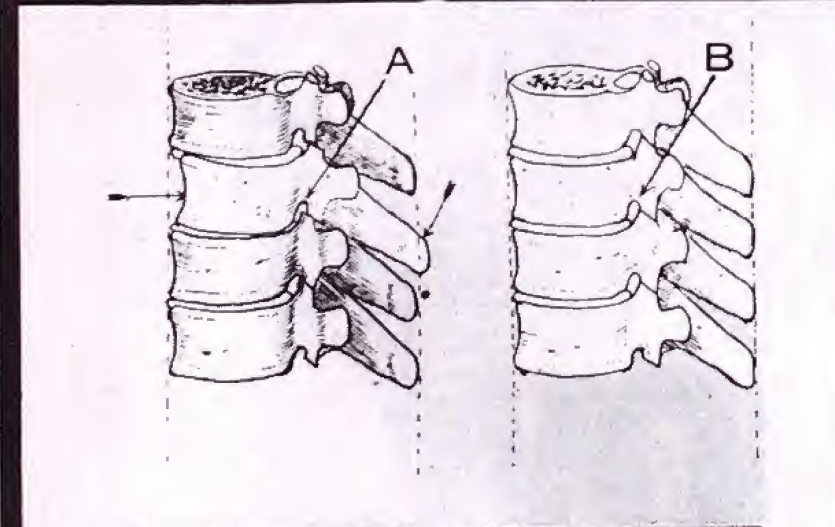

If the X-Ray films reveal a vertebra that is out of place, these same films will then aid the chiropractor in determining how to correct this subluxation.

THE SPINAL ADJUSTMENT

If the spinal examination reveals a subluxation, the chiropractor will then, by the use of his hands, adjust that vertebra in order to restore it to its normal position.

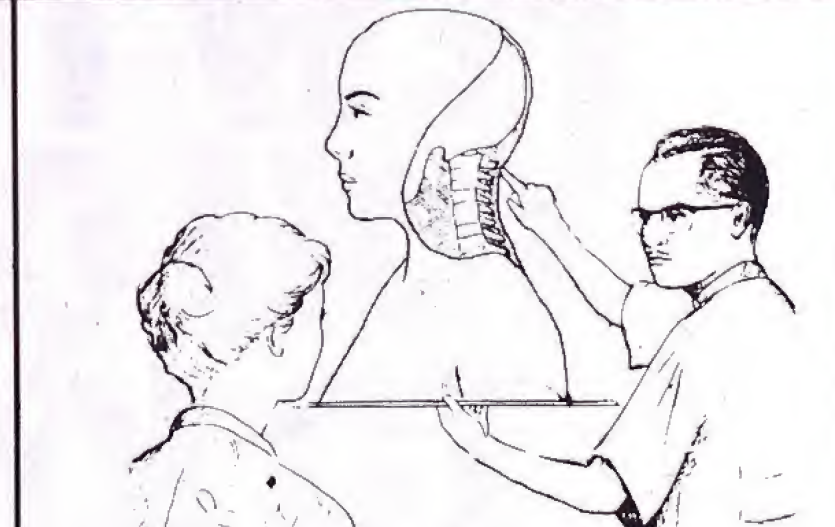

The spinal adjustment is completed by the chiropractor with skill and efficiency with no discomfort to the patient.

SUBLUXATION; BEFORE AND AFTER ADJUSTMENTS

Section of spine at the left illustrates a vertebra that is slightly out of place. This subluxation will narrow small opening between vertebra (A) from which nerves emerge leading to various organs. (See page 6)

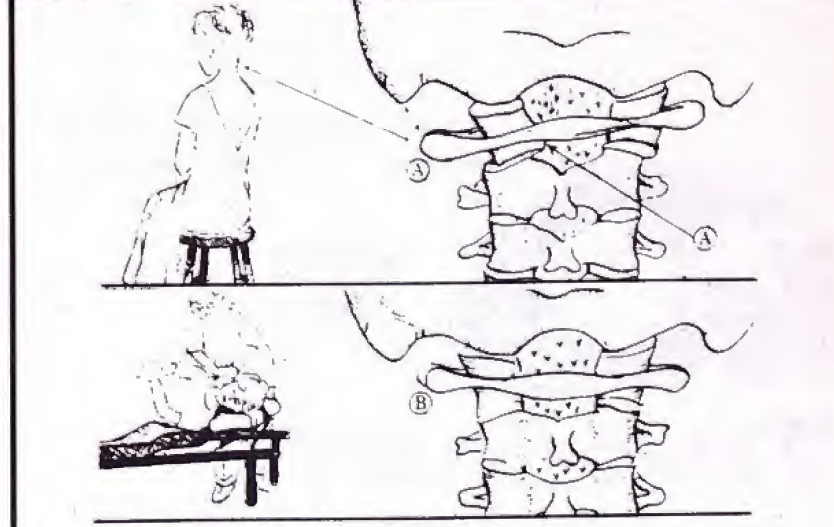

View at right shows how subluxated vertebra is restored to its normal position by spinal adjustments. OPENING BETWEEN VERTEBRA (B) IS NOW NORMAL.

THE CERVICAL OR NECK REGION

THE MOST FREELY MOVABLE part of the spine is in the neck region. Here the cervical vertebrae are constantly articulating as we move our head in different directions throughout our daily activities.

While this movement is normal, an abrupt, turn, work or play habits that tend to keep head in certain positions for long periods of time, falls, strains and even sleep (improper head support) may cause a subluxation in this region.

UPPER CERVICAL ADJUSTMENT

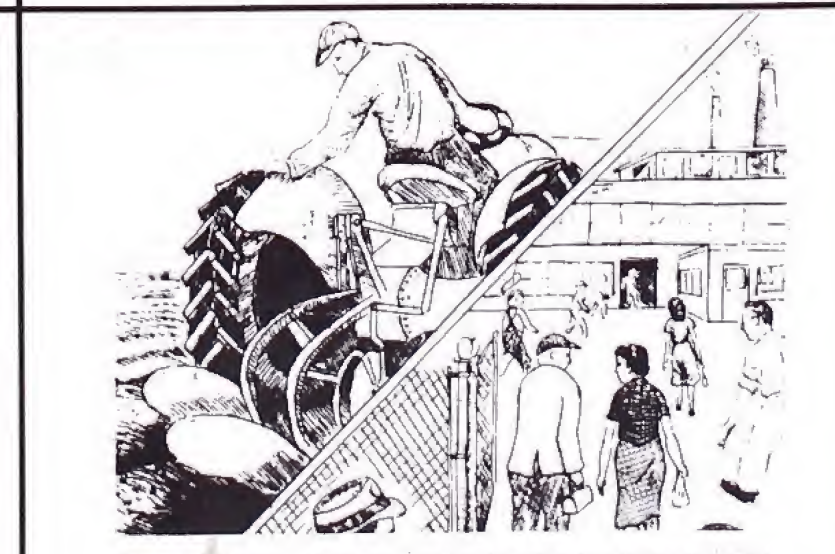

Because the spinal cord leaves the brain and enters the spinal canal in the cervical (neck) region, a subluxation occurring here may put pressure upon the spinal cord, (A). This will interfere with the normal flow of vital mental impulses to the body and organs.

To correct this condition a NECK OR UPPER CERVICAL ADJUSTMENT will be necessary to restore vertebra to its normal position, (B), thus relieving pressure upon the spinal cord.

Many times a patient will have a chronic subluxation (one of long duration). This subluxation may have developed over a period of time through certain work habits or perhaps during other activities that put a strain on the spine. It may be the result of a previous accident, fall, or strain.

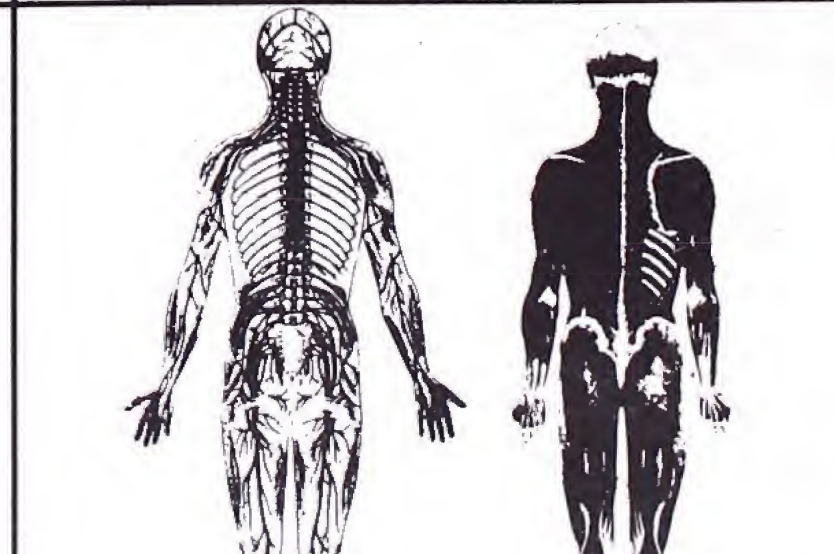

A subluxation of long standing may impair the efficiency of the surrounding muscles and tissues. That efficiency must be restored. Therefore adjustments over a period of time may be necessary to restore vertebra to its normal position.

Because of the nature of his work, the industrial worker is frequently subject to back injuries and strains. Lifting, loading, or perhaps certain machine or bench work may cause back trouble.

Also subject to various back mishaps is the farmer.

TIME LOST FROM WORK WILL BE LESSENED when the worker is put under chiropractic care following back injuries. At the same time, if a subluxation is present, it will be corrected thus preventing sickness later as a result of nerve pressure.

Chili

"Since we've placed first with it, it's not a good idea to change it around," Rellinger said.

Norm Yassay and Sandy Ressler, of Belleville, are also competing in the cook-off as a team in the renegade division.

Yassay said he first attended the cook-off as a spectator but later became interested in the cooking aspect of the event. Yassay said he likes other types of cooking but doesn't make anything exotic.

Ressler and Yassay meet often to discuss chili recipes. This year, their team is making "Tongue Torture." The two have tested the recipe on their friends.

"If they fall off their chairs and grab their throats, we know that's not the recipe," Yassay said.

During the the years, the recipe has gone from an "all hamburger" to a "hamburger and other types of meat, such as rump roast," recipe.

"It's changing every year," Yassay said.

The recipe started as a combination of Yassay's mother's recipe and Ressler's recipe.

"We put it together and in-novated from that point to now. It's a long way from the first recipe," he said.

The secret to good chili, according to Yassay, is proper seasoning and quality ingredients.

Keith McDonald and his wife Louisa, of Belleville, will also be a part of the chili cook-off. This is their third year in the competition, competing this time in the renegade division.

"It took a lot of experimenting to come up with this recipe, which features Classic Coca Cola as an ingredient. A lot of people use beer, but we use Classic Coke," McDonald said.

In preparing for the competition, McDonald and his wife have made 14 batches of chili.

Each year, the two start small and end with gallons of extra chili.

McDonald said good chili depends on the grade of meat and also fresh onions. McDonald also uses olive oil in place of butter.

At the cook-off, the cooks will begin preparing to cook at 11 a.m. At noon, the cooks are told to start cooking. At 2:30 p.m., the judges sample each chili preparation. At 3 p.m., the public is permitted to sample the chili.

To get to the site of the cook-off, take I-94 west to Exit 175, in Ann Arbor. Follow the signs to the event.

Recipes

1 1/2 tablespoons cayenne pepper
1 cup Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
6 tablespoons tabasco sauce
1/2 cup soy sauce

Chop and dice onions, peppers, garlic and celery. Saute in pan with a little butter. Brown hamburger and sausage. Mix in with onion mixture. Add spices slowly. Then add tomato juice and paste. Add chili peppers and beans at end to keep them from becoming soggy. Add Classic Coke. Serve. Makes three to four gallons.

Tongue Torture

3 pounds chuck roast
3 pounds ground steak
1 pound pork chops

3 cups cabbage
1 pound fresh mushrooms
3 large onions
40 ounces stewed tomatoes
40 ounces kidney beans, dark
40 ounces kidney beans, light
6 stalks celery
1 red pepper
4 jalapeno peppers
3 chili peppers
1 banana pepper
20 tablespoons chili powder
2 teaspoons Mexican chili powder
2 tablespoons salt

2 teaspoons Mexican seasoning
1 teaspoon cloves
3 tablespoons bay leaves
3 small cloves garlic
3 teaspoons cumin
6 shakes of basil
40 pepper corns
1 tablespoon crushed red pepper

Dice and chop up vegetables. Brown meats. Add all ingredients to mixture. Mix well and simmer. Makes two gallons.

Taxes

eligible for a deduction or a partial deduction, Beeny said.

Nevertheless, taxpayers have lost a large amount of deductions. For example, a person must have a large amount of medical expenses to use them as a deduction, Beeny said.

"Unless you have huge amounts, you won't be in the ballpark anyway."

Many taxpayers don't keep track of needed tax documents, and must search for them at tax time. Both are bad habits in financial planning, Wilde said.

He recommends keeping records throughout the year. When making a payment that will be tax deductible, use a personal check, Wilde said. When using a personal check, the taxpayer has a double record of the transaction.

Some major headings for a personal finance filing system include: bank records, stocks, bonds and other securities, nonsecurity investments, home-ownership records, records of major assets, pension record, insurance, credit card accounts, previous taxes, and debts and obligations.

Dessert

pie crust

8-inch pie plate, lightly buttered
2 egg whites
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans (or almonds)
1 teaspoon grated orange zest (fresh is best but bottled will do)
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Beat egg whites with salt and cream of tartar until they begin to hold peaks. Gradually beat in the sugar and continue beating until the meringue is stiff and glossy. Fold in the chopped nuts, orange zest and vanilla, blending lightly but thoroughly. Spread meringue over the bottom of the pie dish, building up sides to 1/2 inch above the rim of the pan. Bake in a preheated oven for about 50 minutes. Do not brown too much. Let cool completely.

MID-CITY DENTAL recently opened the doors for business on Wayne Road, north of Cowan, in Westland. Doctors Indu Pal and Hina Shah are specialists in the dental profession, with work in pediatric dental work, crowns and bridges. Both are also instructors at the University of Detroit.

A FUNDRAISING campaign on Saturday, May 7 by brokers and sales associates of ERA Real Estate firms will be kicked off in Michigan and across the country. The funds collected will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Last year, $800,000 was collected by the firms. This year, the companies have a goal set at $1 million. Some of the activities to generate money have included door-to-door campaigns, bowl-a-thons and dances.

OAKWOOD HOSPITAL, DEARBORN, is one of five Michigan hospitals joining forces to develop a regional health care consortium for the development of new technologies and services. The consortium, the Michigan Health Care Alliance, will develop strategies to meet the demands of the southeastern Michigan health care environment, hospital officials said.

OLA SUTCLIFFE, OF Wayne, has been honored as the Westland Convalescent Center Volunteer of the Year for 1988. She has conducted Sunday worship service at the center for more than five years. Sutcliffe, a member of the First United Methodist Church of Wayne, was honored Sunday, April 24 at the Mayflower Meeting House, in Plymouth.

BELLEVILLE RESIDENT LINDA Leslie, employee of Little Caesars Pizza, was recognized by the company for her outstanding community service. Leslie, franchise marketing supervisor for Little Caesars, has devoted 20 hours per week of continuous service to her church, the Prayer Temple of Love, in Highland Park. She has served as the co-chairperson of the board of trustees of the church. She was one of six employees honored at the National Volunteer Week kickoff breakfast, sponsored by the Volunteer Network.

WAYNE "SKIP" TORNOW was recently named the General Motors account manager by Bee Chemical Co. Based in Belleville, Tornow will be responsible for directing the Bee Chemical activities for the GM coating-approval process.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES for the Detroit metropolitan area dropped by 1.5 percentage points, as the jobless rate fell from 10.3 percent in January to 8.8 percent in February, Michigan Employment Security Commission officials said. The decline represents 30,000 fewer individuals out of work. Total local residents seeking work plunged to 189,000. The decrease was said to be due to seasonal callbacks at area educational facilities and employment growth in the service sector. Total employment of area residents in February increased by 50,000, to reach 1,914,000. The civilian labor force climbed to 2,153,000, a gain of 21,000. The February rate of unemployment remains higher than the national rate of 6.2 percent, but it is slightly lower than the state rate of 8.9 percent.

GERALD AND JAMES Fitzgerald, two hospital corporation presidents, and Jim Demmer, assistant general manager of Jack Demmer Ford Inc., in Wayne, were recently part of the crew in the $30,000, non-stop, nine-day, 8,500 mile-, times-speed-distance endurance road rally across America. The crew drove a 1988 Ford Taurus station wagon in the race, which began at the Westin Hotel, in Detroit. This is Fitzgerald's second rally. In 1986, the three-man crew finished 51st out of 131 teams. They drove a 1986 Ford Taurus station wagon in the event. The purpose of the race is to test cars and drivers in real-world situations.

A SELF-TAUGHT SUCCESS

High-tech firm takes off for area resident

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Eddie Harmon has a high-tech job. He is the owner of N/C Servo Technology Corp., a company that is involved in robotic and flight simulator repair.

The company, located on Webb Road in Westland, is the only one that does this kind of work. And Harmon didn't have the advantage of going to a major university and learning about robotic repair.

"They didn't have classes because it was a new field," said Harmon, who started his company in Dearborn in 1975.

"I took classes that were related but I basically taught myself. I have always enjoyed high-tech work, and I like repairing things that other people can't."

Because Harmon's company is the only one that does this type of work, it gets orders from all over the United States.

Harmon said the company has done work for NASA, Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which is based in Burbank Calif. and Link-Singer Corp., a flight simulator company.

"We have also done work for auto plants, general machine shops and some universities," said Harmon, who employs 15 people at his 12,000-square-foot Westland facility.

The company, which also does repair work on electronic circuit boards and hydraulic pumps and motors, began operation in Dearborn in 1975 and moved to Garden City in January 1982. Harmon moved the company to its current location in November 1987.

Eddie Harmon (above), owner of N/C Servo Technology holds a printed circuit board. The boards are diagnosed and repaired at the Westland business. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

"We chose Westland because we were promised a nine-year tax break," said Harmon. "We only got seven and I had to fight for that. But I am happy with Westland."

Harmon is also happy that the company continues to grow and make money.

"This will be our best year," said Harmon. "We have shown continual growth every year and I project our profits will be up 15 percent this year. We also have never laid off any employees."

And the employees, according to Harmon, are the best.

"They are quality people who do very good work," he said. "We repair a lot of electronic machines without schematics or documentations which is very hard. We look at the unit and figure out what it does and then what is wrong with it."

And if they can't fix it, there aren't many places around that could.

Start planning now for Tax Day 1989

By BETH SUNDRLA
ANP Staff Writer

The April 15 tax deadline has passed. But that is no reason to stop thinking about taxes and financial planning, tax experts say.

People don't think about their tax returns all year, but they should, according to Tom Wilde, district manager of H and R Block.

Wilde said taxpayers need to look at how much interest they are paying. The deductibility of consumer credit is decreasing. If someone is paying $1,000 in consumer credit, he will lose the deduction on $650 for the 1988 tax year.

"It's also important to look at that W-4 form," Wilde said.

Taxpayers should take a look at whether their withholdings are allowing them to break even or receive a large refund, Wilde explained.

It's especially important to consider the W-4 form if there are changes during the year, such as a job change and a wife getting a part-time job, Wilde said.

"Otherwise, you will wind up with some interesting sur-

FACING FINANCIAL FACTS

■ WITHHOLDINGS: Items that reduce your income may also increase your withholding allowances. These include excess itemized deductions, employee business expenses, alimony payments, deductible payments to an IRA, Keough contributions, deductible business losses and allowable credits. Items that increase income and may reduce allowances include two jobs or both spouses working, alimony received, interest or dividend income, outside business income, capital gains, taxable pensions or IRA and rental or royalty income.

■ THE AUDIT LOTTERY: Your chances of being audited by the I.R.S. increase substantially if you have unusually high deductions for catastrophes, high number of adult dependents, unreimbursed business expenses, charitable donations or medical costs.

■ PAST TAX RATES: Think you have it bad? The ceiling on individual tax rates has been lowered several times since World War II. Past tax rate limits include: 91 percent in 1950; 70 percent in 1965; 77 percent in 1969; 50 percent in 1982; and 38.5 percent in 1987.

prises," Wilde said.

In many cases, the taxpayers who receive large refunds would have been better off changing their exemptions to have that money spread throughout the year, Wilde said.

Although the Internal Revenue Service decided against penalizing taxpayers for not claiming the correct amount of exemptions, that could change for 1988, Wilde said.

"They did waive it because of mass confusion. But I don't know what they will do with 1988," he said.

"The important thing is for people to think about their tax returns and look at their options all through the year," Wilde continued.

Robert Beeny, owner of Financial Planning Services, in Wayne, recommends that taxpayers look at what happened to them this year to learn how to prepare for Tax Day next year.

With the loss of sales tax as a deduction and the partial loss of credit card interest, taxpayers should be aware of how they are spending money, Beeny said.

"Try to minimize your credit purchases. It's not that deductible any more," said Beeny.

People that have large incomes can also look for ways to shelter that income, Beeny said.

"There are ways of sheltering if you pick the right investments."

A lot of people were confused by a ruling on individual retirement accounts, Beeny said.

"They thought they wouldn't get a deduction. But that depends on gross income and whether or not you have a pension plan," said Beeny.

Taxpayers who don't have a pension plan and who make less than $40,000 or between $40,000 and $50,000 a year are

Gold and silver investors may sell

It appears that the Federal Reserve Board feels that the action of the Open Market Committee is sufficient to meet the current market needs. The market reaction to rumors and speculations has reduced the pressure for the Fed to actively interact with the market.

Some increased consumer spending, a slight decrease in capacity utilization and adequate inventories will allow the Fed to continue to sit on the sidelines. The yields on bonds and utility issues are now very attractive and will generate some buying enthusiasm.

However, an equal amount of selling pressure will hold interest rates to a narrow range. Gold and silver holders are becoming less convinced that inflation is a near-term factor and may be reducing their inventories, causing a downward price move.

For this week, the short-term traders will be divided between buyers and sellers. The market may lack any early session wall street week

direction but may slip lower. Light volume will help traders determine that buying is the right action, and the market will ease higher.

Intermediate- and long-term traders will use any market strength to move to the sidelines.

This market will open mixed and drift to the downside. This week, the market is looking for leadership that will cause a breakout - but that may not be available this session.

By mid-session, some buying, in anticipation of a rally, will give the appearance of market strength. But it will lack staying power. At this point, the market is waiting for something and is divided on what that something is.

Some month-end buying will allow the market to close on an uptick.

NOTE: GM earnings climbed 18 percent in the first quarter but would have fallen 6 percent without an accounting change. Municipal bond interest can be taxed by Congress, the Supreme Court ruled. Consumer prices climbed .5 percent in March - or at an annual rate of 6.4 percent, another sign inflation is heating up.

Housing starts up 1.9 percent in March. The FSLIC has a negative net worth of $11.6 billion.

MARKET AVERAGES: Dow 2015.09, TRANS 847.68, UTIL 169.86, S&P 260.14, NYA 147.03, OEX 246.57, AMEX XMI 393.41.

PLANNING

WHERE TO START

Reserving the reception hall is first, cakes and creativeness can wait

The hall is first order of business when planning for a wedding, according to Joanne LaForest, banquet manager of the Mayflower Hotel, in Plymouth.

The hall should be booked immediately after the church has been chosen.

"The hall should be booked at least one year in advance," LaForest said. "I'm already booking some dates in 1989."

Couples looking for a hall should do so carefully, LaForest said. Some halls offer features that others do not. As in all wedding planning, the key advice is to "shop around," LaForest said.

To rent halls at the Mayflower, a $700 service fee is required. The fee pays for the hall, a room for the bride and groom, breakfast at the hotel the next morning, a coat-room attendant, a doorman, engraved cake knives, all flowers and decorations and the bride's choice of color for the hall.

The meal fee is extra.

"Our dinners run $14, $16 or $18 per person, and we have just a sit down. In general, dinners normally range $12 to $24 per person. Bars usually run $6 to $10 per person," LaForest said.

The Mayflower requires that the service fee be paid the day the hall is booked. The balance is due the night of the wedding.

A few area halls offer complete wedding packages - disc jockey, food, wedding cake and printing needs. The Grande Ballroom, in Westland, is such a business.

The Grande Ballroom offers a DJ, printing needs, the food, a 4,000-square-foot dance floor and the hall, according to Grande Ballroom owner

FINE TOUCH

A break from tradition can mean floral beauty and printing savings

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Floral beauty does not have to be traditional. Even at a wedding.

To spice up the event, Eleanor Gagel, floral designer at Garden City Florists, in Garden City, suggests experimentation and new ideas.

Gagel, who has been in the floral business almost seven years, said wedding flowers have bordered on traditional and contemporary. Traditional flowers, such as roses and carnations, are still very popular. But exotic flowers, such as orchids, irises and gardenias, are coming of age, Gagel said.

"People are going for the roses and carnations. The bridal bouquet usually has the roses. Roses and carnations are usually for the ushers, the father and the groom," Gagel said. "Some of the corsages for the women may have all roses."

Attendants, the groom, the father and the grandfather normally have a very simple boutonniere. The groom's may be somewhat more elaborate.

For the women in the wedding, bridesmaids either carry presentations - a dozen roses or carnations - or a bouquet of flowers, Gagel said.

"With the bride carrying a bouquet, you don't want to take away from the bride, because she's supposed to stand out," Gagel said.

Mothers of the bride and groom typically wear a wrist corsage, which includes either an orchid, carnations or roses.

To break away from tradition, silk flowers can fit the bill - in both the aesthetic and financial respects.

"The silk is something they can keep. In silk, you can get almost any type of flower you want."

One problem with purchasing silk flowers, however, is that prices are somewhat higher than real flowers, Gagel said.

Flowers for the bridesmaids are generally $18 for arrangements, $8, $10 and $15 for corsages. Boutonniers for the groomsmen are about $2.50 or $3.50.

"We like to find out what their budget is so we can work with them. We like to find them the flowers that can match their budget."

Practical printing

Choosing a printer for wedding invitations isn't as easy as writing your name. Several options, styles and prices await the bridal couple, according to Dennis LeMaitre, owner of U.S. Print, Inc., of Westland.

To start off, the couple should write down all correct information needed on invitations, reception cards or thank you notes. This will ensure that the printed materials will be accurate, LeMaitre said.

"After a couple has given the information, they should pick out the type of invitation they want and a set price range they want to work with," LeMaitre said. "After that, we word the verses, and they choose the colors. We are skilled in making and helping them with their decisions."

Printing needs don't end with invitation and reception cards, however. Also available are napkins, reception scrolls, cake boxes and matches.

Invitation and response cards generally cost between $150 to $200. Printing orders are typically made in groups of 25 items, with a minimum order of 25. Average cost for printing needs for weddings is between $300 and $400, LeMaitre said.

And don't forget about postage.

And don't forget to be courteous after the wedding, LeMaitre said.

"Thank-yous should be sent out immediately after the couple returns from the honeymoon." ■

Fate of memories in hands of photographer

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Planning the photography for a wedding isn't as easy as saying "cheese." David Nelson, owner of Nelson Photography, Romulus, stakes his career on it. Nelson – a graduate of the Brooks Institute, in Santa Barbara, Calif., where he obtained a bachelor's degree in scientific photography – said many couples aren't aware of the many pitfalls of wedding photography – until it is too late. Nelson's advice is simple: be aware of the gimmicks.

"Don't let the photographers pull wool over your eyes," said Nelson, a 10-year veteran of photography. "Check out a photographer thoroughly, and really see what you are getting. It's incredible.

"Sometimes people get an inexperienced amateur photographer with a 35 mm camera to shoot for their wedding and pay top-dollar for it. It is really horrible."

Before choosing a photographer, couples planning a wedding should evaluate the photographer's personal relations and communication skills, his credibility, reputation and qualifications, Nelson said.

In addition, a quick check of the photographer's camera equipment and lighting might "sell" the couple on his skills – or encourage the couple to continue shopping around. Reviewing the photographer's most recent book of wedding portraits can also be useful.

And price?

"You can get the best quality for the best price," Nelson explained.

The most popular wedding package at Nelson Photography will cost the new bride and groom $650. The package includes photographs at the bride's house, church and reception. An alternate setting – a park or outdoor scene – can also be included in the package, he said.

For the couple who want everything, Nelson also offers a slide show presentation at the reception

Bridal FASCINATION

Spring wedding ware includes items old, new, borrowed — but not blue

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Appropriate style are the watchwords for women's bridal fashions in the 1980s.

Carol Kuffel, owner of Beginnings . . . A Bridal Shop, in Plymouth, said traditional, straight gowns with detachable trains are becoming very popular. The harem-bottom dress — dresses with a bubble — have also increased in popularity.

For colors, Kuffel said, white and ivory remain very popular. Although one customer purchased a "Michigan State green" dress, pink and blue dresses do not sell at the store.

Brides nationwide choose veils instead of hats. Gloves are no longer popular, Kuffel said.

But at Lina's Bridal, in Plymouth, Nanci DelFignore, has been selling many pink gowns. Other popular styles are sheath-style dresses, with puffed sleeves and lightly beaded.

Hats are out of style, DelFignore will admit. But headpieces with long veils are very popular.

Typically for the mothers and bridesmaids, Kuffel said, tea-length dresses are the norm. But, she continued, some styles change frequently.

"Many more dresses are being shorter for the mother now. Mothers are wanting the shorter dresses," Kuffel said. "The grandmother wears the 'grandmother dress.' They want the traditional grandmother dress that covers them up. The brides now are wanting something they saw their mothers married in."

Bridal dress prices, Kuffel said, typically start at $400. Headpieces average about $110.

Bridesmaids pay about $110 for their dress, while the mothers' and grandmothers' dresses are about the same price.

Gowns should be purchased four to eight months before the wedding. This allows time for "surprises," both bridal store experts said.

BRIDAL BEAUTY: The typical bridal gown of the summer of 1988 will feature a veil, instead of hat, detachable train, with puffed sleeves and a lightly beaded material. For color, the bridal gown will be white or ivory this year.

And for the groom?

"Shop around and be careful" are the words of advice men' formal wear experts give to the groom-to-be.

Loretta Adomeit, manager of Lapointe's Formal Wear and Costumes, in Garden City, said men should be choosy when looking for a wedding outfit.

"Most formal-wear stores offer a discount or a free tux for the groom if there are a certain number of people ordering. But be careful about places that offer free trips. Those can be very sneaky. Read the fine print on those offers," Adomeit said. "Check to see the store's attitudes, and see if you are taken care of and helped."

"Take time, look around the store and look for quality service. Some people complain about poor service they've had from other tuxedo rental places."

Customers should be treated with extreme courtesy, Adomeit said. Couples should look for a place that carries all of the styles and colors they want for the wedding.

"Most of it is just common sense to look around. But go into a place and ask lots of questions. Find the deals. Ask for a catalog, and see what is offered."

Measurements should be taken about two weeks before the wedding. Most stores, Adomeit said, offer out-of-state measurement cards for long-distance members of the wedding party.

When ordering the tux, Adomeit warns couples not to look at brides' magazines for examples.

"Be very careful about those magazines. Brides' magazines are very deceptive. Some tuxes are specially made for a particular photo, and, sometimes, the suit is only made once. Some don't even exist," Adomeit said.

Men tying the knot this year are wearing white, ivory and silver colors, with tails, cummerbunds and bow ties. Typically, the groomsmen are basically dressed in the same attire as the groom - with a possible small variation.

Prices vary according to styles and the amount of items needed. Men can expect to pay between $45 and $95 for popular tuxedo brands, such as Pierre Cardin, the Dynasty Collection by After Six, Miami Vice and Lord West, Adomeit said.

The rental period is normally 24 hours. Some places require a refundable security deposit. Most payments are due the day the suits are picked up. ■

WELL-GROOMED GENTLEMEN: Grooms this year will opt for the lighter wedding colors - white, ivory and silver, tuxedo store workers explain. Most popular are the nationally promoted brands of suits, including designs by Pierre Cardin, the Dynasty Collection by After Six, Miami Vice and Lord West. Ties and cummerbunds are the preferred wedding accessories.

Rob Cortis. Many "extras" can be added to the basic package, as well.

"We have our own pastries and wedding cakes. We have our own catering department, which we offer sit-down, buffet- or family-style dinners. We have our own sound system and DJs," said Cortis, who also owns Cortis Catering and Sound, Elite Sweets and American Screen Printing. "We bend over backward to satisfy the customers."

"Anything that anyone would want - whether it's plain, simple or elegant - we can do it," Cortis said. "We do pig roasts. We do tailgate parties. We can do any event."

If the bride and groom opted for a hall similar to the Grande Ballroom, the two would need only to find a limousine and formal wear for the event.

Rental prices at the Grande Ballroom, located on Warren Road, at Merriman, is $300 for a party of 200 people or less, $400 for 200 to 399 and $500 for a event attended by more than 400 guests. As the "extra" items are serve "a la carte," a wedding with 200 guests, buffet-style dinner, linen table cloths, DJ and wedding cake would cost between $1,500 and $3,00. The price does not include alcoholic beverages.

And because of popular young adult dancing every Friday and Saturday night at the ballroom, receptions must be staged in the afternoon or on Sunday, Cortis said. ■

IN THE LUXURY LANE

Limousines are nothing new in weddings, simplicity takes back seat

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

The ride down luxury lane can begin immediately after the wedding ceremony. As the bride and groom glide gently out of the church after being pelted with uncooked rice, they can be treated like royalty in a chauffeured-driven limousine.

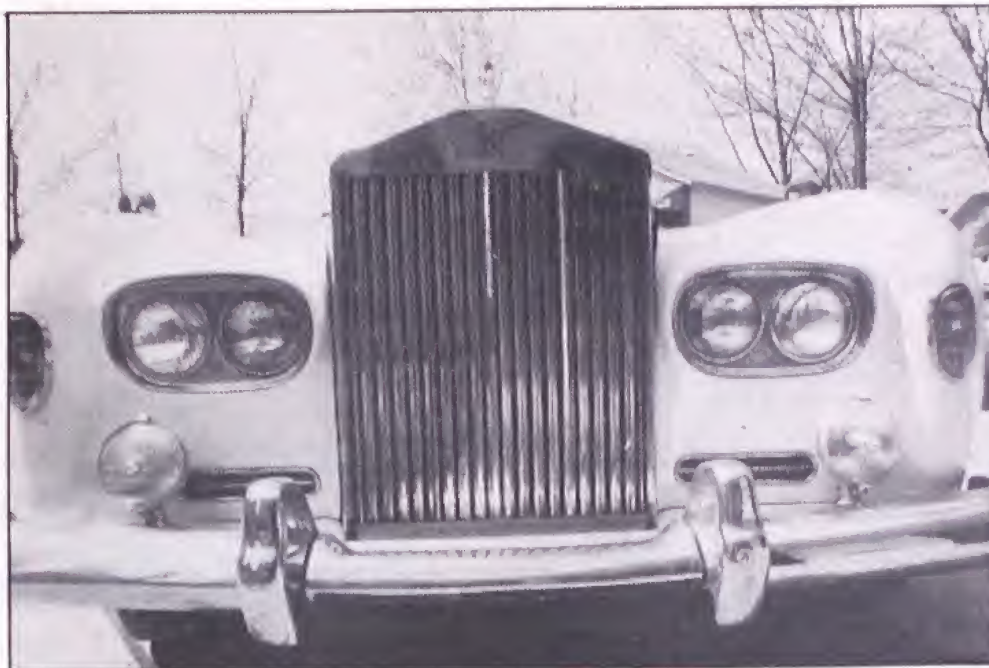

Oliver Lindsay, general manager of University Limousine, in Canton Township, said a ride in sweet luxury is becoming a longstanding tradition for newlyweds.

Couples can choose from a variety of limousines from his store, including the standard-size limo, super-stretch limo and even a Rolls Royce.

Prices for the standard size is $35 an hour, a stretch limo is $45 per hour, a super stretch is $80 per hour, and a Rolls Royce is $75 per hour. The super stretch, he said, is capable of seating 10 passengers.

Vehicles at University Limo must be rented for a minimum of three hours. For a rental of more than eight hours, the couple receives a 10-percent discount.

Services included in the vehicles are also included in the price packages.

"We usually give a complimentary bottle of champagne, which they can sip on. We have a beverage center, a uniformed chauffeur, Persian floor rugs, dark windows and a stereo cassette player," Lindsay said.

Diamonds are forever

Times aren't like they used to be when it comes to choosing wedding rings.

Susan Zuckerman, owner-manager of Leo's Jewelers, in Wayne, said ring styles and the people choosing them are becoming more contemporary.

Unlike the surprise engagement ring of old, couples today are going to jewelry stores to buy the rings, Zuckerman said.

"Men and women are choosing together now. Before, the man would go and surprise the lady," Zuckerman said.

The most popular rings are the wedding sets. Diamonds are still very popular for the women - with the average carat size of .50 or less.

Men, Zuckerman said, still prefer wedding bands. But, she continued, they also more and more are choosing two rings - one plain gold band for work and another with diamonds for after work.

Marquise-shaped diamonds are the most popular for brides. But they are also 20 percent more expensive than other cuts of diamonds because of the supply and demand for them.

"We're getting more middle-aged people coming in and purchasing the ring. We're not getting as many 18-year-olds coming in and buying," said Zuckerman, who added that diamond prices have increased 20 percent since last July.

PLANNING AHEAD

Key to happy marriage is proper planning in finances and personalities

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Financial planning is a pre-wedding task for the bride and groom. It's also one of the most important.

Bill Haley, financial planner at Money Concepts, in Westland, said couples should perform a financial analysis for their wedding plans and future life together.

"They need to set up a budget. They also need to plan ahead and see what expenses will be there," Haley said. "They should go through everything that they will have monthly payments for. Go through the previous years expenses and base it on that somewhat."

The first year of the marriage is always the toughest financially, Haley said. The couple is normally not prepared for a budget, bills and regular payments.

To help them, Haley suggests that records be kept of all expenditures. This will enable the two to see where too much of their funds are being spent and what the budget is lacking.

"The biggest thing a couple should do is to keep records and see where their income is going. That way, they can set up their budget by the previous year's expenditures," Haley said.

The budget should be ready for use in January.

Bob Beeny, owner of Financial Planning Services, in Wayne, said couples should also discuss their finances before and after marriage.

Beeny said couples should begin saving money for marriage long before the wedding ceremony.

"Young couples spend a lot of money now. They have to sit down and set goals. They have to save money for those long-term goals," Beeny said.

He suggests opening an individual retirement account or investing in mutual funds.

"It's never too early to start saving for retirement or the kids' education. It's definitely better to start saving early."

Another way of saving money, Haley said, is for couples to simply stop spending money on "not needed" items.

"An emergency fund should be easily accessible to the couple. It should consist of at least $1,500 in emergency funds."

Matching personalities

Getting married is more than finding out if your mate leaves the toothpaste cap on or off. Much more, according to a local sociologist.

Dr. Patricia Ryan, a sociology professor at Eastern Michigan University, said getting married can produce a great amount of stress for the bride, the groom and members of their families. It is a time when the couple will see each other at their best - and worst.

"Getting married can produce a lot of stress, even when there is something happy that has happened," Ryan said. "Sometimes, there is a feeling of a loss. Things won't be now as they were. As we begin to relax, we begin to find things with each other that we didn't know."

Typically, couples finally adjust to each other after about one to one and one-half years of marriage, Ryan said. After the "probationary period," the two begin to develop a pattern of how they can best live with each other. ■

Rent or own

Newlyweds urged to invest early by using money for a new home

To buy or to rent? That is the question facing most newlywed couples. If the couples follow Ted Martin's advice, they will buy a home.

Martin, a broker at Earl Keim Realty, in Westland, said it is ideal for newlywed couples to buy a home. Home buyers, unlike apartment renters, can build equity, and the property tax is tax deductible, Martin said.

"It's your own home. You don't have to listen to next door's toilet flushing, the stereo playing, other conversations going on," Martin said. "Buying a home is a kind of forced savings account (with the equity). The savings happens automatically."

Martin said couples with a combined income of at least $30,000 per year should consider buying.

Bill Haley, financial planner at Money Concepts, in Westland, agreed. However, couples should only spend one-quarter of their combined monthly income on housing.

"Couples need to shop around for a good neighborhood. They should check with neighbors to find out high points and problems in the area," Haley said. "Look for something affordable. Sometimes, you can go into something less - like a mobile home for rent."

But, Haley said, couples should definitely look into homes. Many newlyweds do not have money for a downpayment on a home. Nevertheless, there are alternatives, according to the financial planner.

"Couples can look for affordable, small starter homes. Their first home doesn't mean they're going to live there the rest of their lives. It's more of a preference of where to live," Haley said. "It's wise to shop around and see what's available. Sometimes, you can pay less rent for a house than an apartment."

Most apartments, Haley said, require a security deposit (which is refundable). Credit checks are usually done on the couple. For a house, he said, if the two are not deeply in debt, "they're more than apt to qualify for a home loan."

A monthly house payment for a starter home in the Wayne County area is typically about $600 per month, excluding utilities, Haley said.

"There's no point in waiting to buy a house if you have the money. The rates seem to be at a low point right now," he continued. ■

One of the more popular concepts in the world of photography today is boudoir or glamour photography. Today's ever increasing need for improved self image, has helped to popularize this ever growing industry. At no other time in your life, regardless of age, will you be more beautiful than right now. The desire to "stop time" by capturing your own natural beauty, is a desire hidden deep within all of us. And yet, rarely is it captured for the pleasure of viewing for generations to come. With the use of individually selected costumes, props, lighting, and posing, there is finally someone who can bring your own unique style and personality to life.

At D. Paul Nelson Studio, we unlock those doors to the pampering that once was only available to models. Your personalized service begins with a free tan from The Romulus Tanning Salon. A makeup artist and hairstylist is then brought in to analyze the look which will best benefit your individual features. From there magic is performed with the use of professionally applied makeup, followed by the hairstyle befitting the face. From the studio wardrobe, a costume is selected in conjunction with the proper setting which will help to complete the carefully determined glamour or boudoir look individually suited for each client.

The perfect portrait becomes complete only when the use of lighting, posing, and creativity are added to the setting selected for each particular client. The end result is something that becomes increasingly more cherished with time.

Nelson's Photography Studio offers this service free to each bride to be, who signs a wedding contract. But for those who are not planning a wedding, it is a small price to pay for something whose value will increase with each passing day.

Many women find such a portrait to be the perfect all occasion gift for that someone special in their life.

Available for viewing are some samples of this type of photography done in the past at Nelson's Photography Studio. Upon request there will be a female assistant throughout the entire shoot. For the ill at ease, there is a provision in each contract which will allow the client to purchase her negatives. For a limited time only, we are offering a glamour or boudoir sitting for a minimal fee with the use of the coupon in the accompanying ad.

Don't let your fears about your imperfections stop you from having beautiful artwork of yourself to hand down for generations to come. If you are tired of the same old look, and would like to restore your self confidence, this is the setting for you. We are open any time you need us. Call for your appointment Monday thru Saturday 9am to 7pm.
